THE OLEANDER.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

Nerium oleander, as an evergreen, bold, bush plant for the sunny greenhouse, with its large, bright red blossoms produced the summer through, which originally came from the Mediterranean region in 1596, we can say much to commend, and it is not uncommon to find a fine specimen in the greenhouse where good old-fashioned plants are appreciated. It is not generally known, however, that the Oleander is very poisonous, it being recorded that skewers made from the wood—a foolish thing to do—used in meat had fatal effect on several persons, and that is what we have against it. The Oleander, nevertheless, is much more grown on the Continent, where nurserymen have raised such magnificent sorts as Madonna grandiflorum, Album plenum, and others, but the typical plant is a handsome thing, as those who have it will endorse.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

A lecture on Christian Science will be delivered by Dr. John M. Tutt, C.S.B., of Kansas City, Missouri, in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Lower Baggot street, Dublin, beginning at 8 to-night. Dr. Tutt is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church in Boston.

The Finance Committee of the Bradford Corporation has recommended that the salary of the Lord Mayor, which was reduced last year, be raised by £100, and that he be requested to send a similar amount to the Bentley Distress Fund.

FOOD AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

Birkenhead—Cattle, no quotations, Lambs in poor demand. Merklands Wharf—No auction. Hull—Better trade for good Cattle. London—Slow and prices easier. Manchester Pig—Slow demand. Birmingham Pig—Quietly steady. Rubber dearer. Tin better. Copper firmer. Wheat improving.

CATTLE.

BIRKENHEAD.—On offer: 150 Irish cattle, 460 Canadian cattle, and 1,520 lambs. For the small supply of Irish cattle on offer there was not sufficient business done to warrant quotations. Canadian cattle met a very quiet trade, and where business was transacted prices ranged from 8½d. to 9d. A poor demand continued for lambs, some exceptional quality small weights making 9½d., with average sorts about 9d., but poor descriptions were bad to cash—all prices per lb., sinking the offal.

HULL.—Better trade for best grades. Best beef and maiden heifers 6/3 to 6/9, secondary quality 5/6, rougher sorts 3/6 to 5/- per stone. Sheep—Hoggs 9d. to 10d., ewes 5d. to 6d., lambs 1/2 per lb., best pork pigs 7/6, bacon 6/- to 6/3, poorer sorts 5/6 per stone.

WAKEFIELD.—Small clipped hogg sheep 9½d. per lb., medium 8d., large 7d.; ewes 5d. to 6d., tups 4d.; lambs 1/- to 1/2. Best English beef 9½d. to 10d. per lb., secondary 9d. Fat cows and bulls 5d. to 7d. Cattle 139, sheep 1,040.

LONDON (METROPOLITAN).—Small entries of fat beasts experienced a slow demand and prices occasionally the turn easier. Quotations:—Norfolks 6/6 to 6/8, and Shorthorns 6/- to 6/4. Larger supplies of sheep also proved difficult to vend, and prices marked slight irregularity, while lambs disclosed a decline of 8d. to 1/- per stone. Quotations:—Sheep, wethers clipped 5/4 to 6/-, ewes 3/-, while lambs ranged from 7/- to 7/4 as to quality, all per stone of 8lb. to sink the offal. Total supplies—63 beasts, 2,014 sheep and lambs.

MERKLANDS WHARF.—No auction of fat Irish cattle to-day. About twenty bulls were the subject of private deals, when late values were realised. Arrivals of Irish store cattle totalled 927, including 244 from Derry, 177 Cork, 175 Belfast, 126 Limerick, 84 Waterford, 64 Sligo, 57 Dublin.

MANCHESTER PIG.—Irish shipments to this country, week ended May 28th, totalled 2,923, against 4,086 the previous week, and 4,600 corresponding period last year. Spot supplies fairly good, demand slow. Small pigs not wanted, and prices nominal. Sizable baconers 10/6, sows 6/6 per score, estimated dressed carcase weight.

BIRMINGHAM PIG.—Very fair supply and trade quietly steady to moderate; sows a shade easier, otherwise values about maintained. Quotations:—Bacons 10/6 to 10/9, cutters somewhat quieter, 10/- to 10/6, and sows 6/6 per score, deadweight.

Bacon Curers, DUBLIN.
CHOICE SPRING LAMBS.
TERMS OF BUYING, 1932.

All Lambs must be advised by 12 o'clock noon, and delivered free at the factory by motor, or sent carriage paid by rail only to Kingsbridge, Broadstone or Amiens Street Stations, but NOT TO LIFFEY JUNCTION (driving to factory free of charge). If a lamb dies in transit to the factory delivery will be refused by us.

Top price will be paid for choicest lambs only. Payment is made on nett weight of carcase. Lambs of quality inferior to average are worth much less money, and on quality we reserve final and unfettered judgment. We reserve also the right to fix the price accordingly. Cheques posted same day as lambs are killed (except Sundays).

Neither lambs nor porkers are accepted for killing in the summer on Thursdays or Fridays.

Only nett carcase weight will be paid for. Lambs will be weighed without head, feet, pelt or insides. 1 lb. per lamb will be deducted to cover shrinkage on the hot weight of carcase.

An office receipt is given for all lambs delivered at the factory by motor, but senders should arrange that each lot of lambs carry ear-marks or other suitable identification; but lambs marked with tar will be cut.

No agents have been, nor will be, appointed to collect or to carry lambs or pigs on our behalf. Carriers and lorrymen are neither agents nor representatives of the firm; owners of live stock should, in their own interests, arrange that their cheques and tickets be posted direct to their own residences.

It has come to our knowledge that carriers sometimes deliver elsewhere lambs and pigs which are intended for us. If you employ a carrier arrange to have your cheque sent direct home to you. Do not accept a carrier's cheque.

The firm will deal direct with you.

We pay no allowance to carriers, so that the producer gets fullest value according to our terms of buying. Please pay them generously; for, with few exceptions, they handle your lambs and pigs carefully.

Prices will be published from time to time in a Dublin daily paper. Such prices will not constitute a definite offer, and are merely to be regarded as an indication of current value of long woolled, white lambs. Black-woolled lambs are often not worth the same money, due to the price of the wool. Prices are liable to change without notice.

Lambs will be killed in rotation as received, but no guarantee can be given as to time of killing.

No part of Ireland is too distant to send your lambs to Dublin. We protect you from temporary slumps in the live markets.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN STEADY.

GUINNESS WEAK.

The general steadiness of a small market on Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday was marred by a break in Guinness units, which carried the price back 2s. 6d. to 65s. 6d. The Pref. closed easier.

Funds, both Free State and British, were firm, with Funding Loan up to 101. Banks held firm at unchanged quotations, and Rails and Trams showed no change.

Cables Pref. was bid for at several points better than last week, and Alliance Gas rose to 10⅞, with Johnston Mooney Ord. up a shilling to 81s.

The Industrial section remained in a stagnant condition. Some prices improved a few pence. On the other hand Burke Pref. fell 3s. 6d. to 28s., and Calico Printers' Pref. lost nearly 4s., being dealt in at 6s. 10½d. It should be noted that Yam Seng Rubber rose 2d. to 9d.

LONDON CHEERFUL.

GILT-EDGED STOCKS STRONG.

The Stock Markets opened the week in a cheerful atmosphere, the tone being assisted by the optimistic speech of Mr. Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, at the end of last week, and the improved outlook for the Lausanne Conference. Other favourite factors were the results of the elections in Australia and the speedy closing of the lists for the £10,000,000 issue of the Central Electricity Board. The lists were open for only an hour and a quarter, and the success of the issue had a stimulating effect generally. Long-dated British Government stocks were prominent in the general advance, 3½ per cent. Conversion Stock being ⅜ up at 88⅜, while Funding Loan rose 1/16, and 4 per cent. consolidated 1/16. Indians were better, with the exception of the 3 per cent. Stock, while Australian stocks benefited by the election news from New South Wales. German stocks showed strength, and the Sevens advanced 2¼, while there was a recovery in Czechoslovakia Bonds, which put on 2 points. Most other Foreign Stocks were firm, but French issues were rather easier, and Chinese stocks showed irregularity. British Rails were better in places, but there were dull spots, the general tone being irregular. Great Western Ordinary hardened ½, but the 5 per cent. Preferred Stock fell to the extent of 2½. Movements among London, Midland and Scottish stocks were of a similar character, for, whereas the Preferred Ordinary improved, the 4 per cent. Preferred Stock eased, while Metropolitans went back 2 points. Colonial and Foreign Rails were not characterised by any great activity, and "Can Pacs" improved 1¾, while American Rails were a point better in places. Among Mining shares Kaffirs found support, and Oil shares were better, but Rubbers attracted no attention. In the Industrial market there were some good features, though the best prices of the day were not always maintained.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

CABLES AND WIRELESS GOOD.

While trading conditions in the Industrial market yesterday showed no improvement, the tone on the whole ruled fairly cheerful in most departments. The early closing of the lists for the Central Electricity Board issue was well received. Trans-Atlantic and other International issues responded at first to hopeful advices from Wall street and the Continental centres, only to finish rather on the dull side. Another burst of strength was noticeable among Cables and Wireless stocks on what was attributed to knowledgable buying on the part of professional operators in anticipation of the forthcoming report, but a reaction from the best points occurred eventually.

After a firm opening the trans-Atlantic counters developed an uncertain trend again in response to afternoon advices from Wall street, and generally finished on the dull side. Nickels closed at 5⅜ after 5¼, U.S. Steels at 35½ after 36, and Hydros at 6 after 6¼, the last-named owing to the passing of the dividend for the current quarter. "Emmies" improved to 9s. 3d. at one time, but sellers were noticeable at this level in the late dealings.

Good support was again forthcoming for Cables and Wireless stocks, particularly the Pref. issue, but some reaction occurred toward the close. The Pref. gained 1½ on balance at 40⅜ after being up to 42⅜.

Little fresh interest was taken in Iron and Steel descriptions pending further developments.

Apart from Fords and Austins, the Motor section had a dull appearance.

There was still a certain amount of hesitation among Textiles, though here and there moderate support was forthcoming. Bradford Dyers, Bleachers, Calico Printers and Patons and Baldwins looked steadier, but Sewing Cottons weakened to 22s. 6d., with Listers on offer at 10s. 3d. J. and P. Coats remained around 38s. 4½d.

Rayons were little affected by the proposed cut in yarn prices in the United States. American Celanese gave way to 10s. 6d., and Canadian Celanese to 18s. 9d. Courtaulds closed unchanged at 24s. 10½d.

In the Provision and Catering section Home and Colonials were well maintained at 15s. on the dividend announcement, and the Unilever issues remained at 1 3/16. Tate and Lyles regained 7½d. to 40s.

With a few exceptions, Breweries presented a firmer front. Bass Ratcliff hardened to 46s. 9d., with a quiet enquiry noticeable for Allsopps and Benskins. On the other hand, Guinness reflected the outcome of the Irish talks in London, and gave way 1s. to 66s. 3d.

The Tobacco leaders moved within narrow limits, with a slightly harder tendency. "Bats" gained the turn at 3 15/32, and "Imps" to 3 11/16.

Triplex Glass continued in receipt of fair support, and finished with a further improvement of 10½d. at 32s. 6d. Imperial Chemicals strengthened to 13s. 4½d. Moderate improvements also took place in Boots Drug, Joseph Lucas and Molasses, the latter despite the Preference dividend decision.

OIL SHARES QUIET.

Oil shares commenced the week in quiet fashion, but, although the volume of transactions were small, even in the leaders, a satisfactory tendency prevailed. At the opening firmness was displayed by International counters, following the receipt over the week-end of satisfactory advices regarding the course of American Oil shares. A few buying orders came to hand, and in their execution the prices of leading descriptions, such as Shells and Royal Dutch, moved to higher levels. The orders received over the week-end having been disposed of, the market once more relapsed into an idle condition, and consequently quotations receded from the best. Continental business can hardly be said to have constituted a factor, there being very little doing on account of either Paris or Amsterdam. In the afternoon Anglo-Persians and Burmahs responded to a moderate demand from the North.

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

Rubber shares were neglected, and an improvement in the price of the commodity to 1⅞d. and a reduction in the stocks in London by 899 tons and in Liverpool by 568 tons had no influence. Apart from Rubber Trusts, which receded to the extent of 3d., and Cicely, which lost the turn, there were no movements.

LONDON MINING MARKET IRREGULAR.

ASHANTIS ADVANCE SHARPLY.

Changes among Kaffirs were fewer than on Friday, there being little incentive to deal. Operators are inclined to bide their time until further dividend announcements are made, and similar views seem to prevail in Paris and the Cape, as business in these centres was as quiet as on this side. As on Friday, Randfontein provided the most active counter, a further small demand arising on Cape account, but a reaction occurred in the later dealings. Copper improved 10s. to £27 1s. 3d. per ton. this being under the best of the day, as standard cash was quoted at £27 3s. 9d. per ton at one period. The rise in the price of the metal was responsible for a better sentiment in the Rhodesian Copper section. Rhodesian Gold shares were steady, with Paris taking little interest. Chartered were a quiet market and slightly higher on balance. This had no pronounced tendency in either direction. The metal further rose £1 to £114 17s. 6d., but this had little influence on the shares. A feature in the West African section was provided by Ashanti, which advanced sharply, although the rise was somewhat out of proportion to the actual demand. Among West Australians movements were adverse to holders, especially in the case of Great Bourlders.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

STOCK EXCHANGE SATURDAY DECISION.

The London Stock Exchange will be closed next Saturday.

CENTRAL ELECTRICITY BOARD.

The subscription lists for the issue of £10,000,000 Central Electricity 4½ per cent. Stock, 1957-1982, were closed at 10.15 yesterday morning.

CABLES AND WIRELESS.

The report of Cables and Wireless, Ltd., for 1930 did not appear till July 24, but it is believed that the report for 1931 will be received at an earlier date on this occasion. It is being anxiously awaited by the holders of its capital of over £52,000,000, upon which no dividends could be paid for the past year. Last July an Advisory Committee was appointed, and much conjecture has been aroused as to the nature of their recommendations. This is a point which the coming report should make clear. A feature at the week-end was a moderate improvement in Cables and Wireless Stocks—Preference 39½, A 13¼, and B 7.

COMING ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Fewer company dividends and reports are now being published than was the case a month or two ago. A seasonal lull usually occurs about this time. Among announcements expected soon are the following:—Cables and Wireless report, Barry and Staines accounts, Grout and Co. results, John Brown and Co. report, Harland and Wolff report, Patons and Baldwins results, General Electric accounts, Attock Oil results, Brazilian Traction report, Henleys Telegraph results, George Bassett and Co. report, Barclay Perkins accounts. Later in the month the directors of Distillers Company, Ltd., will announce their final dividend for 1931.

BEWARE OF "SHARE-PUSHERS."

At the present time "share-pushers" are busy in Dublin trying to sell shares in worthless companies, and it is necessary again to warn shareholders to have no dealings of any sort with callers from door to door. If they wish to sell shares, then the shares are worthless; if they are anxious to buy shares, then the assumption is that the shares are more valuable to the holder to keep. In any case, the moral is to have nothing to do with these peripatetic gentry.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

IRISH CIVIL SERVICE P.B. SOCIETY.—6 per cent. per annum (15/- per share), free of tax (interim). (Same.)

McENNERY BROS.—Dividend on 6 p.c. Cumulative Preference shares for half-year ended April 30, 1932; £717 forward; £2,000 transferred from reserve, and £241 from income tax. (Last year £343 forward, £500 transferred from reserve, and £222 from income tax account.

A. BOAKE ROBERTS AND CO.—Profit for the year £52,257, as against £40,264. The sum of £5,000 has been placed to reserve. Final dividend of 2 per cent. on the Ordinary shares, making 7 per cent., tax free, for the year, against 6 per cent., tax free.

ATTOCK OIL.—As compared with a profit of £70,211 in 1930, there is a loss of £111,296 as a result of operations during 1931. After taking credit for £167,062 brought forward, and £22,298 from tax reserve, there is a balance available of £78,064, of which £55,000 has been allocated for depreciation, leaving £23,064 to go forward. For the previous year £100,000 was allowed for depreciation.

BROKEN HILL SOUTH.—Dividend at the rate of 1/- per share (5 per cent.). A similar payment was made in the previous quarter. This dividend, it is stated, will be paid out of profits derived from sources other than mining at Broken Hill. At present metal prices operations at the mine are being conducted at a loss.

BARAOORA (SYLHET) TEA.—Dividend of 2 per cent. Last year, 3 per cent.

CAMP BIRD.—In view of continued reduction of the company's revenue, largely owing to depression in base metal markets, payment of dividend (of which further half-year's instalment is due on July 1, 1932) on 8 per cent. Cumulative Preference shares cannot be resumed. Dividend is paid to December 31, 1930.

GOVERNMENTS STOCK AND SECURITIES.—The directors of the Governments Stocks and Other Securities Investment Co., Ltd., state that consideration of dividend on the Deferred-Ordinary Stock is postponed until the end of the financial year. At this time last year an interim of 5 per cent., less tax, was paid.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC SECURITIES.—The directors deem it advisable to refrain from declaring a dividend on the Common Stock in respect of the profits of the current quarter. Dividend of 10 cents per share paid in March last.

LEWIS AND PEAT.—Owing to continued depression in trade the directors state that they cannot at present resume payment of Preference dividends. Preference dividend paid to June 30, 1930.

LONDON PRODUCE CLEARING HOUSE.—Interim dividend on Ordinary of 3/- per share, at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, less tax. (Same.)

MASSEY'S BURNLEY BREWERY.—No interim Ordinary dividend. (Same.)

NORTH BRITISH COLD STORAGE AND ICE.—Further dividend of 7 per cent., making 10 per cent. for year, less tax. Previous year, dividend 10 per cent. and bonus 2 per cent.

PULLMAN CAR.—As a result of the continued depression in railway traffic and the decline in receipts of the company, the directors state that no payment on account of arrears or as dividend on the Preference shares can be made on July 1. The Preference dividend is paid to December 31, 1930. It is estimated that the profit for the seven months to April 30, 1932, amounts to £24,800, against £37,450 for the previous year. Receipts for the full period fell 19.65 per cent., but expenses were reduced by 15.44 per cent. The Company redeemed on June 1 £31,200 of 6 p.c. Registered Notes falling due on that date.

SCOTTISH TEA AND RUBBER TRUST.—No dividend in respect of year ended May 31, 1932. Previous year, 2½ per cent.

WILLIAM MURRAY.—Interim dividend of 5 per cent. (same), less tax, on Ordinary.

WARD AND GOLDSTONE.—Dividend on Ordinary, 7 per cent. (Same.)

WM. CORY AND SON.—Net profit of £601,647, or £73,406 less than in the previous year, is shown in the accounts to March 31 last. The allocation to reserve is repeated at £50,000, but, as already announced, the Ordinary dividend is lowered from 17½ per cent. to 15 per cent., after which £742,425 (against £721,687) remains to go forward. Investments stand at £2,626,329 (against £2,531,003), debtors at £2,782,642 (compared with £2,757,248) and cash at £46,372 (against £50,160).

Thomas Ambler (20), a farm labourer, died in hospital at Driffield, East Yorkshire, yesterday, from injuries received on Sunday through diving into a river in flood and striking some piling with his head. He was removed to hospital, where it was found that his neck was broken.

THE MONEY MARKET

RATES EASY.

The feature in Lombard street yesterday was the easier tendency of bill rates. The "hot" Treasuries changed hands at ⅞ per cent., while for three months' bank bills leading houses quoted ⅞ to 11/16 per cent. as their minimum buying rate. The clearing banks again took June bills at ½ per cent., July at 11/16, and August dates at ⅞ per cent.

In the short loan market fresh floating credit was available at ¾ per cent., with money offered into next month at 1 per cent. On a little Eastern selling silver prices were fixed 1/16d. lower at 16⅞d. for spot and 16 11/16d. per ounce for forward delivery. Gold remained at 112s. 8d. per fine ounce.

Movements on balance in the Foreign Exchange market yesterday were slight, and were for the most part in favour of London. Dollars and francs moved within narrow limits during the day and were finally unchanged. Belgian and German exchanges were both slightly higher on the day at 26⅜ and 15.55 respectively. Among the Scandinavian exchanges the Norwegian rate was 1/16kr. higher at 20⅛. Brazilian milreis were steady at the previous close of 5d., Argentine dollars again being a nominal market. Japanese yen were unaltered at 20⅝.

THE LATE MR. CHARLES McGLOUGHLIN.

DUBLIN ROTARY CLUB'S TRIBUTE.

At the meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club yesterday Mr. F. M. Summerfield, Hon. Secretary, and Chairman of the Irish District, mentioned the death of one of the most respected members of the Club—Mr. Charles McGloughlin.

A big-hearted, kindly man, he was loved by all who had the privilege of his acquaintance. It would be some consolation, he said, to Mrs. McGloughlin, in her hour of trial to know that she and her family had the deep and heartfelt sympathy of every Rotarian in every corner of Ireland. He had received letters and messages from Cork, Limerick, Belfast and Derry conveying sympathy to the bereaved widow and to the Dublin Club. He proposed that the sympathy of the Club be conveyed to Mrs. McGloughlin and her family.

This was passed, all present standing.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

The Curtall Friar : Dandelion Salad : The Election "Slogan." Treasures in Dublin Slums : "Thrillers" on the Screen.

Dublin Treasures.

The beauty of many of the Georgian houses in what are now the slum quarters of Dublin has always filled me with a desire to make their closer acquaintance in the hope that I might some day strike upon the buried treasures of eighteenth-century Dublin. I have heard so many stories of the two wonderful Bossi mantelpieces which were removed from Henrietta street that I suppose every nook and corner of old Dublin has been ransacked for these rarities. I have always, however, hoped that I might strike upon some of the Georgian panelling or upon one of the ornate ceilings with which Italian craftsmen adorned the houses of fashionable eighteenth-century Dubliners.

Recently I had occasion to visit a business house in Marlborough street neighbourhood, once the fashionable district for the nobility, and particularly the judges and barristers, of Ireland. Here I was shown the moulding of some of these Italian ceilings. The particular specimen which I examined had been executed, I was told, in gold and blue, but it had become so overlarded with layers of distemper that the detail of the plasterwork was scarcely discernible. I could make out the dim shapes of flowers, fruits, and the faint tracery of chains. Many other ceilings in this neighbourhood, I understand, provide even finer specimens of the work of these Italian artists, but it is generally held hopeless even to try to remove them with a view to their restoration, so cracked and decayed are they.

American Election Stings.

I see by the current American papers that the "slogan"-maker is having the time of his life there, now that the presidential election is beginning to get interesting. The type of humour peculiar to such occasions is also well to the fore, and Democrats, Republicans, Socialists and Anti-Prohibitionists find that their snappy poster appeals to hesitant voters have brought out sarcastic imitations of their more serious efforts. Here are a few at random:—

"Try us; we can't be worse."

"Never change barrels going over Niagara Falls."

"Let your depression be handled by experts. We have had years of experience."

"If you must be out of work, why not be out of work under the Democrats? It looks more reasonable."

"We cannot promise much, but whatever you get will be different."

"Why not be sensible and suffer under a party you always thought you would suffer under?"

"The difference between selling apples under the Democrats and under the Republicans is that under the Republican Administration there are some customers."

The Anti-Prohibitionist group appears to suffer less in this direction. "Vote wet and you'll soon forget who's President," and "The saloon was bad, but the world has been more cock-eyed since they closed it." are distinctly on the milder side.

"Talkie" Thrillers.

There are probably few people who yield as readily as I do to the fascination of a good detective story, even to the exclusion of more important occupations. Consequently I found some difficulty at first in understanding why the same kind of tale, elaborated on the talking screen, failed to exercise a similar appeal. After seeing a few of them, however, I think I have got to the root of the matter. In one mystery picture which was produced in a Dublin cinema recently the film had almost reached its final scene before the audience became aware of the relations between the characters. The whole thing was a loosely-strung series of episodes, which succeeded one another so rapidly that the linking-up process was lost. The usual "signposts" which are set up by the dramatist to hold the interest of his audience and draw attention to the development of his plot were conspicuous by their absence. Whoever had arranged the tale for the screen had entirely failed in one of the most important attributes of a story-teller—the sense of continuity. It seemed to me that the whole technique of this film, and several others that I have seen, was altogether wrong. No series of "merry murtherings," such as aroused Mr. Kipling's wrath, can make a successful dramatic appeal until the scenario writers discover the secret of binding them into an artistic whole.

Dandelion Salad.

A friend of mine has just shown me what most of us would consider a strange garden crop—a large bed of dandelions. These he uses for salads, and, with or without the familiar lettuce, I believe, dandelion leaves make a most appetising and nourishing dish. "If people would only cultivate the ordinary common plants which grow wild in our fields and lanes," he told me, "they would be twice as healthy." Most of the plants we look upon as annoying weeds, I hear, are health-giving, and many of them are, indeed, used medicinally. We have to pay high prices for them in a bottle, whereas, taken in their natural state, they are invaluable as health-conservers and cost nothing. My friend tells me that dandelion tea, made from an infusion of the roots of the plant, is a wonderful tonic, especially valuable for liver disorders. This back-to-nature advocate possesses a large variety of bottled mixtures, which, he says, have all been made from the weeds that he grows in specially allotted parts of his garden.

The Curtall Friar.

Your recent reference to the eighth-hundredth anniversary of the founding of Fountains Abbey, which is being celebrated this year, reminds me (writes a correspondent) that it was from the monks at this monastery that Robin Hood added to his merry outlaw company the picturesque Friar Tuck. Will Skadlocks had gleefully informed his master that a greater archer than any in the band, greater even than Robin himself, was to be met in the curtall friar of Fountains Abbey. Jealous of his laurels, Robin vowed neither to eat nor drink until he had seen the vaunted marksman. On reaching Fountains Dale he beheld the friar, clad, like himself, in armour. A curious encounter ensued, in the course of which Robin was unceremoniously dumped by the redoubtable monk into the River Skell. On regaining the bank the outlaw angrily faced his foe, emptying his quiver of arrows, which, of course, were of no avail against the friar's steel buckler. Next they took recourse to swords, with which Robin found himself again outmatched. Desperate, he blew three blasts to summon his men—and the friar called for his numerous vicious dogs. The scrummage that followed was keen, though short. The monk, seeing the numbers of his dogs speedily decimated by the assaults of Robin's archers, called a truce. Thereupon the outlaw king, admiring the courage and skill exhibited by the friar, persuaded him to join the band. Robin Hood's Well, near the Abbey ruins, is said to mark the site of their compact.

Street Decorations.

Another week and the stranger, who knows the ordinary hum-drum Dublin, should he visit the city, will hardly recognise it in the freshly-painted, polished and garlanded city of fairy tales. The transformation which fresh paint, bunting and flower-garlanded lamp-posts work not only on the appearance of the city, but also on the cheerfulness of the citizens, can only be believed by those who remember previous festive decorations. The whole outlook of the citizens seems to take on a fresh optimism.

This sort of thing ought to be permanent. The city fathers might well take a leaf from the London suburb of Acton, where the citizens themselves decorate the lamp-posts with flowers. Few things brighten and freshen up a city so much as flowers do, and the psychological effect on the business men would amply repay the cost. The effect on visitors coming for a holiday needs no stressing.

VIENNESE "NIGHTINGALE" AT THE ROYAL.

In an all round interesting variety programme at the Theatre Royal this week Gretl Vernon, described as the Viennese nightingale, will, with practical unanimity, be accorded first place.

She is a charming personality, graceful and good-looking, but it is her beautiful voice, its wide range, and her artistic expression that captivate her audience. She sang four songs in different languages—German, Italian, French and English—and she also proved herself a remarkably clever siffleuse. This is her first visit to Ireland, and there can be no doubt that she is pleased with her reception on the stage.

Eric Randolph, the gramophone star, delighted his hearers with vocal selections from his records. An exceedingly funny scene is that in which Ambrose Barker and Peggy Wynne appear. Peggy is a comedy artiste of the first class.

Stuart and Cameron give a lively selection of music on the xylophone. Charlie Higgins and Bert Wray are good comedians, who make their audience laugh heartily. Gintaro, a Japanese, gives an exhibition of juggling and balancing. The Bendetti Brothers are wonderfully alert tricksters at the violin. Iris Kirkwhite and Errol Addison are among England's fastest dancers. Joe Summers and Johnny Fell are remarkably smart gymnasts, but it is their two birds' courtship that crowns their success

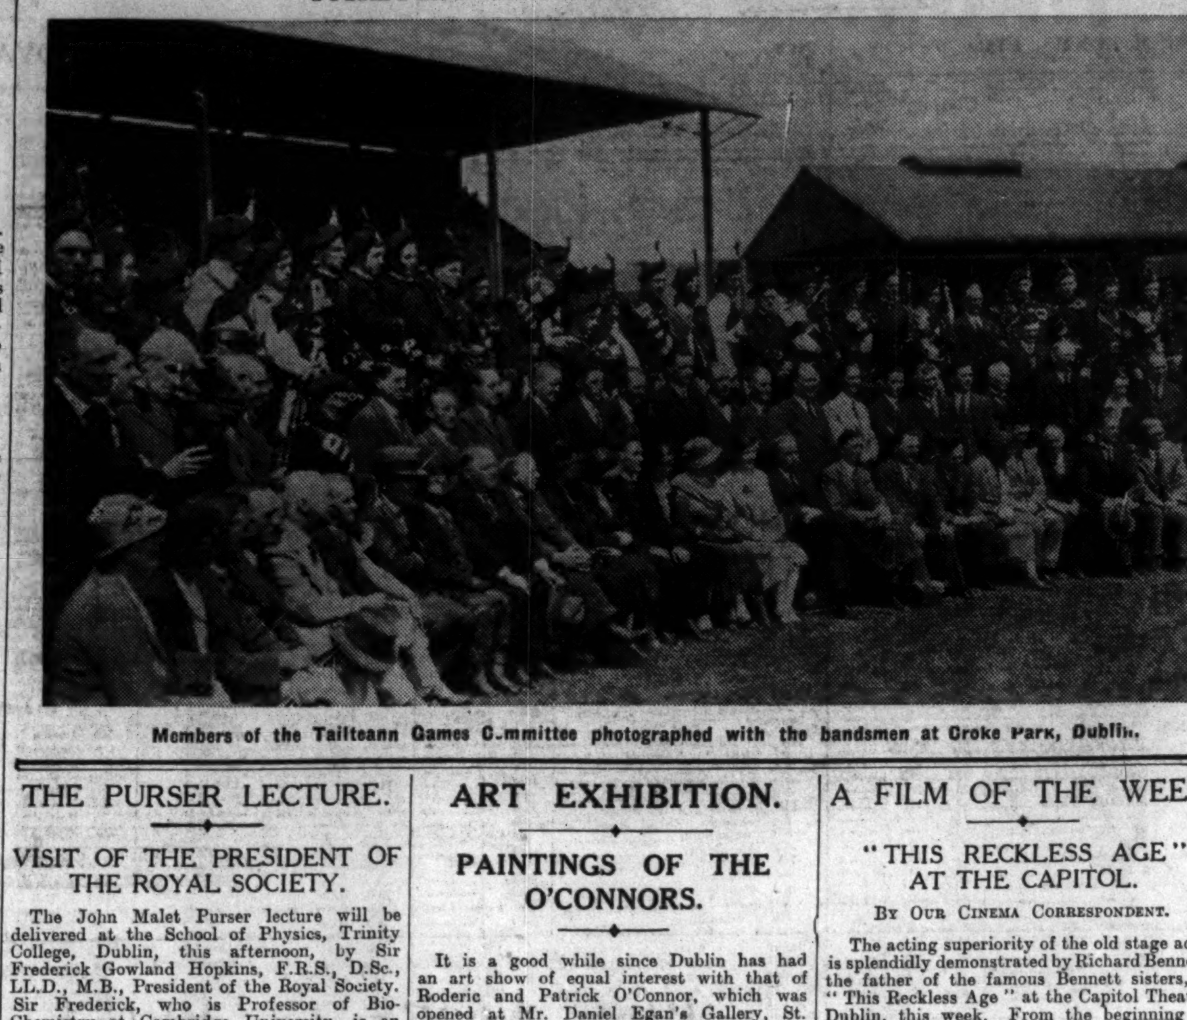

An up-to-date movietone set of pictures on the screen closes the performance.

BLACKROCK COLLEGE ANNUAL.

Well printed and illustrated the Blackrock College Annual, 1932, published at two shillings, provides a variety of interesting matter.

President de Valera, as a past pupil, is the subject of a sketch covering his career in Blackrock. "The Story of Our Alma Mater" traces the history of the College from its foundation by French priests of the Holy Ghost Congregation in 1860. The inclusion of short articles in Irish is a feature of considerable interest to students, and these have all been printed in Gaelic characters. Athletic and other College clubs and associations receive their share of attention.

THE PURSER LECTURE.

VISIT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

The John Malet Purser lecture will be delivered at the School of Physics, Trinity College, Dublin, this afternoon, by Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, F.R.S., D.Sc., LL.D., M.B., President of the Royal Society. Sir Frederick, who is Professor of Bio-Chemistry at Cambridge University, is an honorary D.Sc. of Trinity College.

On arrival in Dublin yesterday, Sir Frederick told an Irish Times representative that the lecture would discuss how far we can describe living organisms in terms of physics and chemistry, and his thesis is that to a certain stage such description is real.

"You can describe a living organism up to a point where it maintains itself as a permanent individuality; you can explain all that side of it as a chemical-physical system," he said. "All that is not to assume, however, that all characters are to be described in chemistry and physics. The living cell as it maintains itself has individuality in this or that environment; but the other faculties of life, the fact that they carry complex inhabitants, that it may in the case of an embryo give rise to highly complex progeny, make it possible that at these higher levels life is something more than a chemical-physical system.

"All the same, recent studies in embryology and genetics are bringing to light evidence that chemical influences play a large part even in these more complex attributes of life.

"The argument running through this is that the control of chemical reactions by enzymes is of so specific a nature that it can account for the extraordinary organisation of chemical combinations that every living cell displays. It is on these chemical attributes of the living cell or tissue that such substances as vitamins or hormones exert their influence and produce the remarkable visible effects which are to be observed."

"JOHN BULL'S OTHER ISLAND."

ABBEY THEATRE REVIVAL.

A small audience laughed continuously last night at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, when "John Bull's Other Island" was revived for another week's run.

As on previous occasions the feature of the performance was Mr. John Stephenson's acting as Father Peter Keegan. His interrogation of the Grasshopper did not seem to have the pathetic quality of other performances, but when he came to show how Rosscullen could be most "efficiently" conducted for the benefit of everyone except its inhabitants he rose to the limits of his opportunities.

Another delightful little gem of acting was Mr. M. J. Dolan's Hodson. He looked the valet of another day, but he gave venomous emphasis to his refutation of Matt Haffigan's reiterated grievances.

The two important parts of Thomas Broadbent and Lawrence Doyle were again filled by Messrs. Barry Fitzgerald and F. J. McCormick. There are very probably only a few people nowadays who have not yet seen these inimitable actors give point to Bernard Shaw's analysis of the differences between the English and the Irish, but no matter how many times they may have been seen they can always be depended upon to give some novel point to the dialogue. Last night it was Mr. McCormick who gave to "Larry" Doyle's lines a spontaneity that they have seemed to lack for a long time.

The other members of an excellent cast were:—Messrs. P. J. Carolan, as Tim Haffigan and Barney Doran; Eric Gorman as Matt Haffigan; Peter Nolan as Father Dempsey; Arthur Shields as Cornelius Doyle; Denis O'Dea as Patsy Farrell; Miss Eileen Crowe as Nora O'Reilly, and Miss Maureen Delany as Miss Doyle.

"John Bull's Other Island" will be repeated each evening at 8 o'clock and at a matinée performance on Saturday, at 2.30 p.m.

GEOLOGY OF GALWAY AND MAYO.

PAPER READ TO MEMBERS OF ROYAL IRISH ACADEMY.

At yesterday's meeting of the Royal Irish Academy in Dawson street, Dublin, a paper was read on the geology of Counties Galway and Mayo by Mr. T. Hallissy, Director of the Geological Survey. The paper was written by Mr. L. R. Wager.

Mr. R. Lloyd Praeger, D.Sc., President, was in the chair.

The paper was a contribution to the geology of the western highlands of Mayo and Galway—a region formed of some of the oldest and most interesting rocks in Ireland. The paper stated that among these ancient rocks were some which had been severely altered under the influence of earth movements and high temperatures. The rocks had their counterparts in Donegal and the Central Highlands of Scotland, and, like them, were referred to the Dalradian or Metamorphic series of supposed pre-Cambrian age. As these rocks were non-fossiliferous and their relations to the older fossiliferous formations obscure, their exact position in the geological column was uncertain, and had been the subject of much speculation.

Mr. Wager's paper dealt incidentally with the problem, and primarily with the problems of the complex system of igneous rocks occurring in intimate association with the Dalradian sediments near Roundstone, in County Galway.

ROYAL HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

At the monthly meeting of the Royal Horticultural and Aboricultural Society of Ireland—Mr. D'Olier presiding—three new members were elected. Additional applications were received for space for trade exhibits at the society's exhibiton at the Horse Show.

The thanks of the Council were accorded to Mrs. Raymond Stephenson for re-presenting the cup for hardy cut flowers which she won outright at the Spring Show, and to Mrs. Croft for her offer to replace the Farabond Cup for hardy primulas won by her.

Schedules for the amateur classes at the August Show are now ready.

ART EXHIBITION.

PAINTINGS OF THE O'CONNORS.

It is a good while since Dublin has had an art show of equal interest with that of Roderic and Patrick O'Connor, which was opened at Mr. Daniel Egan's Gallery, St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, yesterday.

Both artists may claim a merit which has been absent from most personal shows. Too often one-man and two-men shows comprise almost everything the painter has done from his drawing-school days, and in the plethora of canvases one has a difficulty to know whether the artist was more enamoured of his infant-prodigy period or content to be judged by his ultimate attainment. Messrs. Roderic and Patrick O'Connor are of such sufficient worth that they have merely shown works of almost immediate execution, and just enough to declare the range of their powers. Each shows about a dozen canvases. Visitors to their show will be grateful for the absence of distracting profusion.

Roderic and Patrick O'Connor are sons of the sculptor, Andrew O'Connor, who has just executed a statue of Daniel O'Connell for the National Bank in Dublin, and who is at present designing the statue of Christ the King for Dun Laoghaire. Mr. Andrew O'Connor is renowned as a sculptor, and, if there is heredity in art, his sons give full evidence of it. They do not follow exactly in the footsteps of their father, being painters, but both are possessed of eyes for form, which, as painters, prove them respecters of tradition. None of their works is an effort to attract attention by oddities of method; there is no covering up of inability to depict a scene by a plashing of colour in a pretence of impressionism, too often the camouflage for inability to "deliver the goods." Roderic O'Connor and Patrick O'Connor are essentially portrait painters, but to both is to be credited compositional powers and appreciation of the dramatic. The palm, as between the two, may be granted to Roderic. No. 7 "Portrait" is a finished work, painted in the large style of Lawrence. This picture is true, full-toned and animated, as if it were the living man. "The Death of McSwiney," No. 4, is a striking presentation of an historic scene in Brixton Jail. There is poetry in its composition, concentrating the eye on the death-bed beneath a streaming high light from the cell window. The artist has taken a poet's licence in space and circumstance to make drama that cannot fail to evoke a thrill.

If there is always a suggestion of the Dutch school in the brown harmony of Roderic's work, Patrick O'Connor leans to the Venetian school in his "The White Sleeve," which sleeve is none too white, since it is mainly spotted green. The head, evidently the portrait of a young painter, is admirably done. The simple submissive expression of a voluntary subject is engaging. One passes from this picture to No. 19, "Mademoiselle Duclos," to find the gift of portraiture expressed in a true French type, tonally befitting the person, but only to contrast these pictures with Nos. 16, 20, and 22, portraits which are brushed with a sure hand—and must be accurate in form—but which are altogether lacking in the warmth of flesh tint. There is just that coloration in these pictures which is seen in several of the faded Reynolds portraits in the National Gallery. The same absence of flesh colour is to be found in the artist's portrait of the boxer, Marcel Thil, No. 15, and in James Silvarry, No. 22, but the latter portrait is justified by an admirable colour which has justified Louise Breslowe. Patrick O'Connor, in No. 17, "A Spahi," has given his sense of tone symphonies full play over a large space, in which grey predominates set off with the high red fez on the head of a figure posed to express the idea of a soldier and a man.

A FILM OF THE WEEK.

"THIS RECKLESS AGE" AT THE CAPITOL.

BY OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

The acting superiority of the old stage actor is splendidly demonstrated by Richard Bennett, the father of the famous Bennett sisters, in "This Reckless Age" at the Capitol Theatre, Dublin, this week. From the beginning he dominates the picture, and even for his splendid performance alone "This Reckless Age" is worth seeing.

Richard Bennett plays the part of a father who has stinted himself of all the little luxuries which his position might have enabled him to enjoy so that his two children might have a "right start in life." He is a mineral expert, excellent in his metallurgical judgments, but more than indulgent in his dealings with his children. His son is a student at a university, and his daughter is in residence in one of those "co-ed" schools in which "petting-parties" occupy a prominent place in the curriculum. They are both perfect specimens of that "flaming youth" of which a great deal was heard a few years ago, but which economic adversity would seem now to have completely eliminated from the American social scheme.

The story which they enact is not in the least different in essentials from any story of youth and parentage which has been known since the world began. Children will continue, as they have always done, to seem a trifle ungrateful to the parents who sacrifice so much for their welfare; but in life, as in this story, children have a sense of affection which brings them to the rescue in moments of crisis. This Ingles household is merely a microcosmic view of the family system as it has existed throughout the ages, and only slight variations in word and act preserve the necessary "local colour" of this "modern" age. The Ingles children are boisterously high-spirited and unnecessarily noisy; they are frank in speech and free in action; but beneath all the so-called "modern" exterior is that affectionate regard which is so often mistaken for crude sentimentality.

CHILDREN TO THE RESCUE.

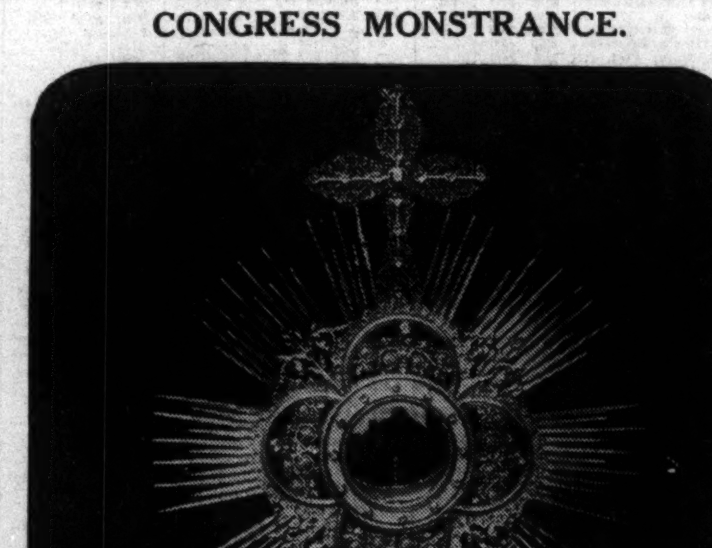

Old Ingles had set his heart upon his son completing his university course, but the boy proposed to get married instead; and all the old man's plans went agley. His adored daughter could remain at a party until after 4 a.m. without making the slightest apology for keeping her parents out of their beds, but in all other respects she was a model of rectitude.

It was his affection for his children which brought Ingles senior into trouble. In his desire to be at home when his children arrived for the Christmas festivities he signed a blank report about a copper mine, and the figures that were afterwards filled in by a colleague were found to be a deliberate swindle. So 10,000 dollars had to be found if the old man were not to be disgraced, and it was the boisterous children who found them. The boy had postponed his marriage, but the girl had gone off in a hurry and married the godfather whose love was timorous and dumb.

The cast is of the most distinguished kind. There is Richard Bennett giving a delightful performance as the father, Charles Rogers as the son, Frances Dee as the daughter, and Peggy Shannon as the prospective daughter-in-law, with Charlie Ruggles supplying the humorous episodes. The whole film is a delightful piece of human comedy that is well worth seeing.

On the stage Peter Bernard is an entertainer of whom audiences will want to see and hear more. With a pleasing voice he combines an unusually attractive personality and an artistry that makes syncopated music really worth while. His singing is dramatic, so that in such a piece as "The Punch and Judy Show" the tragi-comedy is visualised.

CONGRESS MONSTRANCE.

The monstrance which will be used by the Papal Legate, Cardinal Lorenzo Lauri, in the Eucharistic Congress procession on Sunday, June 26th. It was presented to the late Cardinal Cullen, Archbishop of Dublin, by the Chapter of Dublin on the occasion of his receiving the "Red Hat" in 1867.

RETURN OF "THE RASCALS" TO OLYMPIA.

"The Three Rascals" were given a cordial reception on their return visit to the Olympia Theatre, Dublin, last night. They contributed to a variety bill a selection of musical items that won them applause. With piano accompaniment, their solos and concerted pieces gave pleasure to the audiences and encores were demanded.

The musical part of the programme, apart from a clever exhibition of conjuring by Tomio and Val, was the better part. Some of the stories and observations intended as jokes which crept into it were not at all necessary to its success.

The dancing of the O'Farrell Sisters and Jean was well done. Phyllis and Giles appeared in a farm scene, the chief attractions of which were the mechanical effects introduced into it. Merle Stevens and Sanders Warren, musical comedy artistes, were worth hearing, and deserved the acclamation with which their singing was greeted. Jimmy Austin, Stratton and Stett, and Terry O'Dare also furnished "turns."

ON THE WIRELESS

FROM NEW YORK TO NEW ORLEANS.

A DEPARTURE from the more usual type of programme is made by the Daventry National Station this evening with the broadcast of "Going South," a dialogue description of the journey from New York to New Orleans. The Radio Times describes "Going South" as consisting of a series of local cameos of the Southern States seen through the eyes of a coloured conductor of a Pullman car on the train going south from New York to New Orleans. As the train passes through the country of cotton and sugar plantations, and along the banks of the Mississippi, a visitor new to the country hears the plantation songs and spirituals of the negroes at their work or at worship—many of them well-known songs that gain enormously by being presented against the background of their origin. This type of broadcast is not, perhaps, entirely new in its conception, but it is worthy of greater exploitation than it has hitherto received. By providing a background in which there is a personal element the listener is able to "see" what is being broadcast, and the entertainment is immeasurably enhanced. In the case of a travel story, such as "Going South," the scenes are more readily fixed by the listener, and the broadcast consequently gains tremendously in educational value. The dialogue, arrangement and presentation of "Going South" are by Derek McCulloch, and the artists taking part are Mary O'Farrell, Betty Bolton, Percy Parsons and Emile Grimshaw, with the Temple Quartet. The broadcast commences at 9.20.

IN THE NORTHERN CAPITAL.

Ireland on the Film : The North's Publicity Campaign : The Problem of Lough Foyle. The Coming of the War Ships.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Monday.

IN its publicity campaign the Ulster Tourist Development Association is doing much to attract visitors to Northern Ireland by the distribution of literature and guide books dealing with the scenic beauties and other attractions of the Six Counties; and at present it is much interested in a sound film with the symbolic title, "The Voice of Ireland." It must not be thought, however, that this talking picture deals only with the Six Counties. Represented in it are Armagh, Londonderry, part of the famous coast road, and the Glens of Antrim; County Fermanagh, including Lough Erne and Belleek, and scenes in and around Belfast, together with parts of Strangford Lough, in which is incorporated the St. Patrick's pageant of last Saturday.

The scope of the picture, however, is much wider than that, and before it is completed the producer, Lieutenant-Colonel Victor Haddick, F.R.G.S., will have visited all the thirty-two counties of Ireland in his search for the beauty spots and historic landmarks of Erin. The aim of the film is to bring Irish life in its reality before the people of Great Britain, Canada, and other Dominions, as well as the United States, and the bewildering loveliness of much of the scenery, North and South, should prove a strong inducement to tourists to visit this country.

LOUGH FOYLE PROBLEM.

The people of the Six Counties are always interested in anything that affects the jurisdiction of Lough Foyle, and the reference to it in the Dail during the week-end has again drawn attention to a problem which has disturbed the serenity of official circles up here for the past two years. It will be recalled that this question came before the Northern High Court, and it was decided that Lough Foyle, according to an ancient charter given by an English king, was part of County Londonderry, and, therefore, came under the administration of the Northern Government. This decision, however, has not been accepted by the Free State, and the whole matter was referred to the British Government, by which it has apparently been shelved. It is a thorny subject.

The significance of the answer given in the Dail has not been missed here, and there is speculation as to the meaning of the statement that discussions are to be resumed at an early date with representatives of the imperial authorities as to an interim arrangement for the administration of the waters of the lough "without prejudice to the jurisdiction of the Irish Free State over the territorial waters of Ireland." Politicians in this area are wondering if that wide claim includes the waters which wash the shores of the Northern counties.

VISIT OF WARSHIPS.

Ulster has always a cordial welcome for ships of the Royal Navy, and it will have another opportunity this week of dispensing its hospitality to the officers and men of several battleships and smaller craft of our premier fighting service. Last Saturday destroyers arrived at Belfast and Portrush, and an aircraft carrier, H.M.S. Courageous, is anchored off Larne. To-day the battleship cruiser Hood, of 41,200 tons displacement, and a crew of 1,500 officers and men, came to Bangor, and to-morrow the latest type of cruiser, H.M.S. York, is due off Newcastle.

People in all parts of the province will thus have an opportunity of inspecting a part of "Britain's might." Belfast has its own naval training ship in H.M.S. Caroline, of which the Earl of Kilmorey is in command, and the province supplies many men both to the Royal Navy and to the Reserve force. During their short stay in Northern waters both officers and men will be suitably entertained.

A POPULAR MARQUESS.

It is gratifying to observe that the youthful Marquess of Dufferin and Ava is following worthily in his father's footsteps in the interest he is taking in Bangor and in the province generally. His beautiful home is at Clandeboye, near the popular seaside resort, and he has announced his intention of spending as much of his time there as possible. Accompanied by Lady Dufferin, he travelled specially from London during the week-end to take part in the annual meeting of the Bangor Hospital, an institution in which his family has always evinced a deep interest. Lord Dufferin has expressed his intention of spending the Whitsuntide and Christmas seasons, as well as several of the summer months, at home in Clandeboye, but he says that, as he has not a job over here, he will have to be mostly in London.

CINEMA IN MUSEUM.

The Belfast Museum and Art Gallery in the Botanic Gardens has become a very popular institution since it was opened a few years ago. Its educational influence is very great, and students come from the University, the Technical College and the secondary schools to examine its treasures and aid to their knowledge, while bands of pupils from the elementary schools are also conducted round its halls. The institution has a cinematograph installed in the lecture hall, and here the wonders of nature are unfolded in picture and story.

Some ninety of these exhibitions were given during the past season, some for adults and others for children, the subjects illustrated being wide and varied, even the dangers of the streets being demonstrated in "safety first" lectures. The annual report for the year ended 31st March last reveals that 192,740 persons visited the museum during that period, these figures indicating an increase of 12,093 over the number recorded for the previous year.

The Art Gallery contains many beautiful pictures by Sir John Lavery, and there is an interesting collection of water colour sketches of "old Belfast," one of which shows a sailing vessel discharging its cargo on the banks of the River Fearset in High street. The stream was covered over about a century ago.

HARBOUR DEVELOPMENT.

A new chapter in the development of Belfast Harbour was opened yesterday when the first steamer entered the new North Channel and berthed on the west side of the dock recently constructed. In honour of the occasion the vessel—the Aranda, in command of Captain A. T. Abrahamsen, from Nova Scotia—had all her flags and bunting flying in the breeze. She commenced discharging her cargo of timber this morning, and expects to clear for sea to-morrow night.

It will be recalled that the building of the new dock was undertaken more than a year ago by the Harbour Commissioners with the combined object of extending the harbour and providing work for the unemployed, the Government giving valuable assistance. The scheme has been a pronounced success, and provides another proof of the vision and enterprise of the Commissioners, a body whose policy consists in doing things and not merely talking about them. Great areas of slobland are at present being reclaimed from the sea, to become, by-and-by, an important asset to the Harbour Trust.

OLYMPIC GAMES STAMPS.

The first of the Summer Olympic Games stamps have just been issued by the Post Office Department in the United States with a three and a five cent stamp. The new three cent stamp will be violet-coloured, and has a picture of a sprinter on his mark. The five cent stamp will show a discus thrower with the world as a background, and will be blue. The first American Olympic stamp was printed last January for the Winter Games at Lake Placid, says a Reuter's New York despatch.

Banned Belfast Meeting.

High Court Application

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BELFAST, Monday.

IN the High Court, Belfast, to-day, before the Lord Chief Justice, the recent posters calling a public meeting of protest against the imprisonment of Arthur Thornbury and James Connolly, who are in custody awaiting trial on charges of stealing arms, and breaking and entering at Glengormerly, formed the subject of an application by the Crown prosecutor.

The Lord Chief Justice issued a conditional order returnable for Thursday, calling upon the printers and four billposters to show cause why a writ of attachment should not be issued against them for contempt of court.

The persons against whom the order was made are:—Joseph P. B. Cahill and Thomas G Cahill, trading as Messrs. J. and T. Cahill, printers, 50 Divis street. William M'Curry, Braefoot, Hannahstown; Thomas O'Malley, 14 Norfolk street; William Mulholland, 53 Gracehill street, and Charles Fanning, 124 Oldpark road, Belfast.

THE POSTER.

Mr. J. G. Dougherty (instructed by the Chief Crown Solicitor) said that on April 5 last Arthur Thornbury and James Connolly were returned for trial at the forthcoming Antrim Assizes on charges of stealing arms and breaking and entering. A day or two ago a poster was put up through the city calling a public meeting of protest against the imprisonment of the two men now in custody awaiting trial.

The Judge—Are they not lawfully in custody?

Mr. Dougherty—Yes. This poster, of course, would tend to prejudice the course of the trial. At the bottom of the poster the printers' names are set out, J. and T. Cahill.

The Judge—Is it alleged that this would interfere with the fair trial of the prisoners?

Mr. Dougherty—I should think it would.

The Judge—I want to know exactly the contempt complained of.

Mr. Dougherty—This poster is calling a public meeting to protest against an act of the magistrates in returning these men for trial, and in keeping them in custody. There is the danger of jurors' minds being affected by seeing this public protest against what would be the course of law.

The Judge—I think all this is very wrong, but I have to be clear in my mind what the contempt complained of is.

Mr. Dougherty—Surely it is an interference with the course of justice, and is likely to affect jurors in the county.

The Judge—Is there anything in your affidavit?—I see the probability of jurors being affected.

THE AFFIDAVIT.

Mr. Dougherty—In Mr. Carson's affidavit he says: "I have read a copy of the affidavit of Constable Joseph M'Bride, filed in this matter, and have inspected the poster therein exhibited, and I say that, in my opinion, the said poster is calculated to intimidate the jurors who will try said prisoners, and prejudice and interfere with the fair trial of these prisoners and with the course of justice."

The Judge—I have no difficulty now. Certainly I will make the order.

The meeting was not held on Sunday afternoon at Fall street (Falls road area), as police precautions were taken to prevent it. It was rumoured that a meeting would be held elsewhere, but a police patrol car rendered this impossible.

Police Co-Operation.

Armagh Tribute to Civic Guards.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
ARMAGH, Monday.

At Armagh Quarter Sessions to-day, before Judge Green, James McCann, Armagh, was ordered six months' imprisonment with hard labour for the larceny of a pocket book containing 12s. 4d. from the hospital of Armagh Royal School.

The accused man cleared over the border, and was traced after great difficulty.

Mr. J. P. Best, who prosecuted, drew the attention of the judge to the clever police work of the Armagh police and to the Civic Guard in Dundalk for their valuable assistance in the case.

The Judge directed that the attention of the authorities be drawn to the good work, and that a letter be sent to the Superintendent of the Civic Guards at Dundalk.

Memorial to the Four Masters.

Consecration of Athlone's New Church.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
ATHLONE, Monday.

IMPRESSIVE scenes were witnessed in Athlone to-day, when the Papal Nuncio, the Most Rev. Paschal Robinson, visited the town to take part in the solemn ceremonies connected with the consecration of the new Franciscan Church, which has been erected as a memorial to the Four Masters.

The town was beautifully decorated. Dr. Robinson, who travelled by motor car, accompanied by the Most Rev. Dr. McNamee, Bishop of Ardagh, was escorted to the town by a fleet of decorated motor cars, in which were the Chairman and members of the Athlone Urban Council and other prominent citizens.

At 11 o'clock the Nuncio presided at High Mass, the celebrant of which was the Bishop, assisted by the Right Rev. Monsignor Dean Langan, D.D., P.P., V.F., Moate; the Rev. Father Enda, Ennis, deacon, and the Rev. Father Baptist, sub-deacon. The Nuncio was assisted at the throne by the Venerable Archdeacon Crowe, P.P., V.F., St. Peter's, Athlone, and the Very Rev. Canon Harte, Longford.

The sermon was preached by the Very Rev. Finbar Ryan, O.P., Provincial of the Dominican Order.

Two addresses, one from the Athlone Urban Council, and the other from the Knights of Columbanus, were presented to Dr. Robinson.

A cablegram extending heartiest congratulations on the erection of the church was received from the Pope.

Three Cars in Motor Accident.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
SWORDS, Monday.

A MOTORING accident which occurred at Fosterstown, Swords, recently had a sequel to-day at Swords District Court, when John Morgan of Oscar square, South Circular road, Dublin, and Alfred Hoey, of Tritonville avenue, Sandymount, were charged with alleged reckless driving.

Mr. Noel Austin Sunner, of Monkstown, the driver of one of the cars, came into court on crutches as a result of the injuries he sustained, and in his evidence stated that he was motoring with his wife, niece and another young lady when Hoey's car passed him out at a bend, and then came into collision with Morgan's car, which had just come round the bend in the opposite direction. Witness saw a mudguard flying into the air, and then one of the cars which had survived the first collision crashed into his car. It was a dark night when the accident occurred.

Guard Delaney, sworn, said that the three cars were wrecked, and Mr. Sunner and Mr. Morgan were seriously injured.

Justice Reddin said that he was satisfied the party responsible for the series of collisions was Hoey, who ought not to have passed out another vehicle when approaching a right-hand bend round which he could not see. He convicted Hoey, and fined him £5 with £2 8s. costs, and dismissed the reckless driving charge against Morgan.

Rural Housing Problem.

Forthcoming Inquiry.

ACCOMPANIED by Messrs. Cormac Breathnach, T.D.; Sean Hayes, T.D., and Senator Duffy, Mr. Edmond Mansfield, President Cottage Tenants' and Rural Workers' Association, waited last Saturday on Dr. Ward, T.D., Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Local Government, in regard to the coming inquiry into the housing of rural workers.

The deputation impressed on the Ministry the necessity of having the scope of the terms of reference sufficiently wide to cover the questions of purchase, future repairs, provision for additional houses for rural labourers and small farmers, and penal circulars regarding rent and tenure issued by the late Administration.

TERMS OF REFERENCE.

Dr. Ward said that but for the fact that urgent schemes for the relief of unemployment absorbed almost all their available time, all arrangements would now be made. They hoped, however, to have the draft terms of reference ready very soon, when a further discussion could take place as to their scope. Adequate representation would be given to the Cottage Tenants' Association and the local authorities, and the Committee would also include experts from the departments concerned.

GOVERNMENT'S AIM.

It was the earnest desire of the Ministry to do everything possible towards the provision of suitable sanitary dwellings for all workers in town and country, and the terms of the new housing measure indicated the very liberal provisions that were being made for the agricultural population generally, not only for new buildings, but for the reconstruction of unsuitable existing dwellings. Their aim, generally speaking, was to provide adequate housing accommodation for agricultural labourers at a rent of about 2s per week, as they felt that under present conditions as to wages and employment any rent much beyond this figure would be impossible.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

The local authorities would be given every possible assistance and encouragement in the great task of providing at the same time suitable dwellings and much-needed employment. The question of giving facilities in certain cases to workers or groups of workers to make provision for the construction of their own houses also was engaging the attention of the Ministry.

As the deputationists were leaving they met the Minister, who assured them that within the next week or two provisions for the inquiry would be placed before the Executive Council for sanction.

Umbrellas at the Fireside.

Cottiers too Lazy to Mend Leaking Roofs.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
ENNIS, Monday.

ACCORDING to a report presented by Mr. J. Quinn, Secretary, to the Clare Board of Health, there are 229 insanitary cottages in seventeen dispensary districts in the county, and apart from these 366 more cottages would be required to satisfy the need for dwellinghouses.

Mr. D. Healy, County Councillor, said that a great number of tenants took absolutely no interest in keeping their homes as they should be kept. There were some of them who would actually put umbrellas over their heads at the firesides rather than get a bundle of straw and scallops to repair a leaking roof. Even if it were to save their lives, they would not bother to get a barrel of sand to repair their houses. He knew even farmers, not to speak of cottiers, who built the finest houses for their cattle, horses and pigs, and left their own dwellings in a most deplorable condition. If tenants only took an interest in their homes, and took off their coats, they could easily keep them in proper repair. In his opinion, they did not do so because they were too lazy.

Mr. O'Dwyer, County Councillor, said that a great number of the houses could not possibly be repaired because they were simply mud hovels.

Mr. McMahon said that the occupiers were too depressed to see where they could improve their positions in life. No matter what improvements they tried to effect, a number of the present houses they were condemned to live in would always remain hovels.

The Board decided to submit a list of insanitary dwellings to the Free State Local Government Department and Land Commission, with a request for the provision of new houses. It was also decided to ask the Government to issue long-term loans for the erection of new houses, the loans to be repaid by the occupiers at a low rate of interest on the annuity system.

Tillage Scheme.

Free State Government's Intention.

REPLYING to a number of resolutions which were passed at the meeting of the Committee of the Irish Grain Growers' Association in Dublin, and copies of which were forwarded by the hon. general secretary, Mr. J. J. Bergin, to Dr. Ryan, Free State Minister for Agriculture, the Minister states:—

"I note your resolution on rebate of duty to brewers, which has been sent on to the Minister for Finance.

"With regard to the Agricultural Grant, we had in mind in allocating this grant the desirability of giving benefit on a population basis rather than valuation. Your suggestion that we should distribute it on the basis of employment would amount to much the same thing. We may possibly be unfair to the big farmer who employs labour, but, on the whole, I feel that we are doing justice to the small holder and his family without taking on ourselves the almost insuperable difficulty of determining what is fair employment and what is not. We hope at a later stage to reward in another way the tillage farmer who is giving employment.

TILLAGE.

"I recognise the desirability of making an announcement as early as possible on the Government's policy with regard to tillage. I still hope to be able to fulfil the pledge which I gave to the delegation from your Association that a scheme would be outlined at latest during the month of August.

"In the case of galvanised corrugated sheets, we are assured that if we retain this tariff the process of galvanising and corrugating will be done at home. We feel that we are justified in this small tariff of 10 per cent. in order to encourage the manufacturers who are anxious to engage in this industry.

"The export of young calves is a big question. I am not sure what reactions it might have on the various interests concerned, but I shall give it very careful consideration and let you have a reply in the near future."

Councillors and Senate.—At a special meeting of the Longford Co. Council, Senator H. Garahan presiding, Mr. Thomas Carter proposed a vote of censure on the Senate for their action in voting against the Oath Bill, "and thus trying to flout the expressed will of the people." Mr. Thomas Mayor seconded. Senator Garahan said that he would not accept the resolution, as it was political. Messrs. Carter and other members protested.

Guards' Five Hours' Vigil.

Illegal Fishing Charge.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
ENNIS, Monday.

A FIVE hours' vigil on the River Fergus at Clarecastle, within two miles of Ennis, was described by Sergeant Morley and Guard Cummings to District Justice Gleeson at Ennis, when two young men, Patrick McMahon and Michael Morrisey, were charged with unlawfully fishing for salmon during the weekly close season, and with using a "fixed engine."

The Guards saw a boat containing the two defendants, "put out" about 1.15 a.m., and after various evolutions on the river returned about 6 a.m. The defendants were then found in possession of a fishing net and a salmon about 10lb. weight. During their five hour vigil the Guards had been in "ambush" behind a wall, and had kept the movements of the men and the boat under observation.

Mr. McQuaid, solicitor for the defendants, admitted the charge of fishing during the weekly close season, but denied that a "fixed engine" had been used.

The Justice said that according to the law the net must be confiscated. As far as he remembered, the penalty for the offence, which had been admitted, was a minimum fine of £10 and a maximum of £50. In order to refresh his memory in regard to the penalty he adjourned the case for one week.

Fatal Ball Game.

Waterford Boy Drowned.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
WATERFORD, Monday.

WHEN endeavouring to retrieve a ball from the sea at Tramore last evening Willie Grey (11), Barrack street, Waterford, son of a compositor, lost his life.

He was playing with a number of other companions, including his brother Percy, in the waters on the strand between the men's and women's bathing boxes about 6.30 when the accident occurred. The boys were playing with the ball, when it was carried some distance out by a wave. Young Grey went to retrieve the ball, and in doing so apparently either went beyond his depth or was carried out by the backwash. His companions, including his brother Percy, made frantic efforts to reach him, but they were beaten back time and again by the incoming waves.

A number of men, among whom was a neighbour from Barrack street, swam out to the spot where the boy was last seen and tried to locate him, but failed. Search parties were organised in boats, but no trace of the missing boy was found up to the time of wiring.

New Belfast Dock.

First Vessel Arrives.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BELFAST, Monday.

The first vessel to be berthed at the dock in the new North Channel, Belfast, which has been under construction for several years, is the steamship Aranda, which entered the channel yesterday afternoon with a cargo of timber. The new channel has a depth of twenty-three feet of water, which is the same as the main Victoria channel, and the steamer, a vessel of 2,630 tons, was brought to her position opposite the new sheds without any difficulty. The vessel is under the command of Captain A. T. Abrahamsen, who in honour of the occasion had all the ship's bunting displayed. The vessel arrived from Picton, Nova Scotia, after a voyage of 12½ days, during which it had to contend with severe easterly gales and spells of dense fog.

Alleged Attack with Fork.—Joseph Wilson (35), labourer, Ballyryan, Limerick Junction, was arrested yesterday by Sergeant Grennan, Oola, and charged with seriously wounding Timothy Duggan (50), farmer, of Barnaleen, Cappawhite, by striking him in the head with a two-pronged fork. Wilson was brought before a peace commissioner at Tipperary, and remanded, bail being allowed. Duggan is progressing favourably.

Worthless Cheques.—At Armagh Quarter Sessions yesterday Judge Green fined George Ingram, of Dublin, in £5, for obtaining a motor car from Messrs. McDowall and Co., Armagh, and a motor licence to drive the car by means of worthless cheques. Defendant pleaded guilty to both charges, and on a third charge a nolle prosequi was entered.

Cumann Na nGaedheal in Tipperary.—At a meeting of the South Tipperary Executive of Cumann na nGaedheal, which was held in Clonmel, Mr. James Reidy presiding, a resolution was adopted calling for a moratorium on the land annuities pending a settlement of the negotiations on the question with Great Britain. Mr. Connolly, organiser, said that it was possible a general election would take place in the autumn, and the need for those organisations was evident. It was decided, in order to further the work of organisation, to form sub-executives in the six centres in the South Riding. The first of these already has been formed in Mullinahone area.

Relief of Unemployment.—The Offaly County Council has received £3,000 out of the new grants for the relief of unemployment, and has selected work on which this money is to be expended. The Council has forwarded a scheme to the Free State Local Government Department for improvement works in the county, the amount of which is £120,000, and the County Surveyor hoped to get £60,000. Mr. P. Boland, T.D., asked the Council to keep in mind that the time was coming when they should get other work for men. The roads were being improved for the past ten years, and this money would improve them further, so that there would be little for men to do upon them. They should seek to create productive employment that would give some return for the money. They should try and devise something that would help permanent industrial development to keep men employed.

District Justice's Rebuke.—At Mullingar District Court, Michael Gannon, Dysart, Mullingar, was prosecuted for failing to pay unemployment insurance in respect of a boy, John Corrigan. Mr. Bolton, insurance inspector, said that he was aware the boy was being paid wages. The defence was that Corrigan was an apprentice, and was not paid any wages. The defendant gave evidence to this effect, and Corrigan corroborated. Justice Beatty said that this was the worst case that ever was brought before him. The defendant had brought this boy up to commit perjury. He got this boy to work for him as his slave, but he took jolly good care not to do anything for him that would benefit him in time of sickness or unemployment. He fined the defendant £10. Patrick McDonnell, Dunboden, was fined £2 10s. for failing to pay unemployment insurance in respect of four of his employés, and he was ordered to pay 5s. per day to the workmen who appeared in Court.

Sympathy with Mr. de Valera.—Yesterday the Mayor of Limerick (Alderman Donnellan) wired President de Valera, Government Buildings, as follows:—"On behalf of the people of Limerick I offer respectful sympathy on the death of your mother."

Threat to Coursing.—At a meeting of the Committee of the Castletown Coursing Club, Mr. N. T. McNaboe presiding, the following resolution was passed:—"That we view with alarm the action of the Free State Minister of Finance in imposing an entertainment tax on coursing meetings. Should the tax be imposed it will mean the abandonment of coursing fixtures by many clubs which at present are trusting to private subscriptions to keep going. We appeal to the Minister to review his decision before irreparable harm is done to this old and popular poor man's sport."

Riotous Behaviour.—In the Portadown Town Court yesterday, before Mr. D. F. Bell and other magistrates, Bernard Kelly, Curran street, and Francis Gormley, Obins street, were charged with being guilty of riotous behaviour on Sunday, May 22. Constable Irvine stated that at 5.30 p.m. some members of the Plymouth Brethren were holding an open-air Service in Craigwell avenue, when the defendants came up with other men and started to threaten the men holding the Service and call them filthy names. Head Constable Goswell said that there had been complaints about this kind of conduct, and the police wanted the magistrates to assist them in putting a stop to it. The Court fined each of the defendants 40s. and costs.

Co. Kilkenny Feis.—Close on 3,000 people were present at the annual County Kilkenny Feis, which was held at Thomastown on Sunday. There were over 350 entries in the various competitions, the standard in general being much higher than in previous years. The Right Rev. Monsignor Doyle, P.P., V.G., presiding, said that, notwithstanding the great work being done in the schools for the Irish language, it appeared to be confined to the four walls of the schools, for when the children left they did not speak one word of Irish until they returned on the following morning. Mr. E. Kissane, T.D., who opened the feis, said that the revival of the Irish language would not, in itself, meet the national requirements. Foreign amusements and games were rightly forbidden by the Gaelic League, and if they countenanced foreign games they would still be on the road to national degeneracy.

Support for the Railways.

Wasteful Competition.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
WATERFORD, Monday.

AT to-day's meeting of the Committee of Management of Waterford Mental Hospital a deputation from the local branch of the Railway Protective Association waited on the Committee in pursuance of the campaign for the restoration of rail-borne traffic.

The position of the railways having been put before the meeting, Mr. John Butler, Chairman, Dungarvan Urban Council, said that he was in entire sympathy with the views expressed by the deputation. As everybody knew, there was at present a big adverse trade balance and a huge unemployed list. If the Irish people generally gave more support to the railways the trade balance and the question of unemployment would be put right to a certain extent. The amount of money which went out of the country for imported motor cars, buses and motor engines tended to increase the adverse trade balance. It was not so with the railways. The railways gave a great amount of employment, but even that employment was going, because the railways were not getting the support now that they got formerly. Everybody knew that if home traffic was in more general use they would have much more employment, and farmers would in consequence have a bigger market for their products.

Mr. Laurence Hallahan, County Councillor, supporting, said that he was in sympathy, but he thought that the railway company should give some travelling concessions to the public representatives.

A NATIONAL ASSET.

Councillor T. Ryan commented on the fact that the railway company had a number of buses on the road competing against themselves. The time had come when the Government would have to take steps to help the national asset which the railways were by the introduction of legislation which would cut out the silly and wasteful competition.

He proposed that the Committee, having fully considered the gravity of the present railway situation, as put before them by the deputation, desire to place on record their warmest appreciation and sympathy with the employés in their efforts to restore the industry.

The resolution continued: "We consider that it is the first duty of the Government to safeguard their national industry by immediate legislation to place it on a sound economic basis and cut out wasteful competition. As evidence of our practical sympathy with the claims of the railway staffs on our support, we pledge ourselves that none but rail-borne goods shall be supplied by contractors to this institution."

Canon Walsh, P.P. (Chairman) said that he thought they were all in deep sympathy with the resolution. The amount of unemployment being caused by the old mode of transport being supplanted by modern methods was becoming alarming. Their general purpose was to try and prevail on the Free State Government to do its best to have the railways supported, and the suicidal competition brought to heel in the country.

The resolution was passed unanimously.

TO LOOK YOUNG & FEEL YOUNG

rejuvenate nerve forces with

PHOSFERINE

"When I found I was becoming 'nervy' and worried, I was advised to take Phosferine. Its nerve strengthening effect worked wonders and definitely provided new impetus and staying power. I have been an actress in Hollywood, a telephone girl, artist, nursery maid, typist, and eventually journalist, and interviewed almost every film star and stage celebrity in England. I get little opportunity for outdoor exercise, as my work as a journalist and novelist involves hours of concentrated thought, so I realise that whatever a woman's age, appearance or occupation may be, Phosferine will keep her from feeling 'worn out,' and ensure that 'young feeling' which prolongs 'young looks.'"

ESCAPING THE PENALTIES

THERE are times when the most prudent of us over-indulge. Too much of the things that form acid in the stomach; too many things that turn to poison in the bowels.

But knowing ones escape the penalty, and this is how:

To avoid that "morning after" take an antacid the night before. Two spoonfuls of 'Milk of Magnesia' to counteract the acid. Two more in the morning—and you are amazingly fit. Your system has kept its alkaline balance. Your stomach isn't upset. The bowels are functioning properly, so you are clear-headed.

Too much of anything—to eat—to drink—to smoke—is the time you can rely on 'Milk of Magnesia.' The troubles due to acid melt away from the moment this creamy, soothing emulsion is taken. It's scientific and sensible. There is really nothing else which is made like 'Milk of Magnesia' or which has the same effect. Your chemist has the small 1/3 bottles, or treble quantity for 2/6.

'Milk of Magnesia' has the highest endorsement; it is probable your own doctor prescribes it.

MILK OF MAGNESIA

Be careful to ask for 'Milk of Magnesia' which is the registered trade mark of Phillips' preparation of magnesia.

Save Your Teeth! Acid destroys teeth. Acid forms in the cleanest mouth—but it can be neutralized and rendered harmless by using PHILLIPS' DENTAL MAGNESIA—a dentifrice containing a high percentage of "Milk of Magnesia." Proof can be seen in whiter teeth within a few days. Prices 6d. and 1/6.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—An anti-cyclone centred North of the Shetlands is spreading North-East. Pressure is relatively low over France and Spain, while a depression on the Atlantic is moving North-East or North. Apart from, perhaps, some rain or drizzle in the extreme West and North-West of the British Isles, weather will be mainly fair.

Ireland, North-West, South-West.—Moderate southerly wind, freshening; fair at first; perhaps occasional rain or drizzle later; moderate or rather high temperature.

Ireland, North-East, South-East.—Light or moderate south-easterly wind; mainly fair; moderate; rather high temperature.

Irish Sea.—St. George's Channel—Moderate south-east wind; mainly fair; sea slight or moderate.

OPERA SEASON ENTERS ON LAST WEEK.

The D'Oyly Carte "season" at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, entered upon its final week last night with "The Yeoman of the Guard." Without quite the sparkle, either of melody or script, that characterises some Gilbert and Sullivan favourites, or the bizarre settings that provide the charm of others, this pretty production is among the most popular in the D'Oyly Carte repertoire. Last night's presentation showed the strength of the company, for, even with some of its most famous members absent, there was not a weak spot.

IRELAND.

At yesterday's meeting of Newry Urban Council a member objected to the flying of the Union Jack on the Town Hall.—(Page 7.)

The new White Star motor liner Georgic has arrived at Liverpool from Belfast preparatory to entering the Atlantic service. Four hundred guests were entertained during the voyage across the Irish Sea.—(Page 7.)

The new Franciscan Church, Athlone, was consecrated yesterday. The Papal Nuncio was present.—(Page 5.)

When endeavouring to retrieve a ball from the sea at Tramore, Willie Grey (11), of Barrack street, Waterford, was drowned.—(Page 5.)

In the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, the trial commenced of an action in which Mr. Peadar O'Donnell, author and novelist, of Marlborough road, Dublin, claimed damages from the Rev. H. V. Casey, of St. Saviour's Priory, Dublin, editor of the Irish Rosary, for an alleged libel in that magazine in April last. The printers of the publication are also defendants.—(Page 8.)

In the King's Bench, Belfast, yesterday, on the application of the Crown, the Lord Chief Justice issued a conditional order, returnable for Thursday, calling upon the printers and four billposters to show cause why a writ of attachment should not be issued against them for contempt of Court in printing and posting a bill calling a meeting to protest against the imprisonment of two men awaiting trial on a charge of stealing arms.—(Page 5.)

Dr. Ryan, Free State Minister for Agriculture, states that he recognises the desirability of making an announcement as early as possible on the Government's policy in regard to tillage.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

Mr. Thomas, the Dominions Secretary, stated in the House of Commons yesterday that it was likely that a further communication would be received from Mr. de Valera after he had had an opportunity of discussion with his colleagues.—(Page 7.)

A powerful committee, under the chairmanship of Sir Austen Chamberlain, has been formed to protect the interests of British investors in the several League of Nations' "reconstruction" loans.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

The action of the British Government regarding the new Chilean Government was reported to the House of Commons. Don Carlos Davila, the Moderate member of the Junta, has resigned, and, under the leadership of Colonel Marmaduke Grove, the country is rapidly marching on to hundred per cent. Communism.—(Page 7.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were cheerful, with gilt-edged sections strong. The £10,000,000 issue of the Central Electricity Board remained open only an hour and a quarter.—(Page 3.)

Ships and Fuel.

Last Saturday the oil-burning Cunard liner Scythia left Liverpool for New York. Five of her six bunkers were filled with ordinary oil fuel; the sixth contained 156 tons of a special new fuel invented by three officials of the Cunard Company. The fuel is a mixture of crude oil and of pulverised coal of an exceptionally fine grade. Its qualities under normal marine conditions will be tested during the Scythia's trip, and its results will be compared with the results obtained from ordinary fuel. Remarkable claims, says a Special Correspondent of The Times, have been made on behalf of the new fuel. It has proved highly successful in use with an experimental plant, and the inventors believe that it will be not less satisfactory as the motive power of a liner. In comparison with ordinary oil fuel it presents no manifest disadvantages: it runs freely with a slight rise of temperature; it will suit the tanks and pumps of the usual oil-burning vessel; its temperature of combustion is very little higher than that of oil alone; its ash is said to be almost impalpable and to make no extraordinary mess. At present, indeed, this fuel is somewhat costly, but one reckoning states that, when the producing plant has been improved, it ought to work out at something less than the cost of oil. Furthermore, as the Correspondent observes, we must bear in mind that oil to-day is at its cheapest, and soon must rise in price. As it rises, so the cost of the new compound will be proportionately cheaper.

Hopes may be disappointed. The patent fuel may prove to be unsatisfactory for its purpose. It may raise so little steam in comparison with the same bulk of oil fuel as to be worthless. On the other hand, its trials may yield very real success; and, in that event, it may effect something like a revolution in shipping and industrial circles. The steamship, whether of the coal-burning or of the oil-burning type, has been in a decline for some years now. Every year sees a larger proportion of the world's new tonnage converted to the internal combustion engine. The motor ship, of course, will not drive the steamer out of existence for some time yet; it is not fast enough for the "record-breaking" that seems indispensable to a passenger line's success. Nevertheless, the motor ship is winning the fight. Only yesterday the greatest motor vessel yet constructed, the White Star liner Georgic, crossed from Belfast to her station on the North Atlantic service. The decline of the steamship has wrought inordinate harm to the British coal industry, and threatens still greater harm; for in a very few years, if the tendency continues, no new steam tonnage will be constructed at all, and the industry will depend for its marine customers on the remnant of the present fleets. A new and cheap fuel, based on coal, is likely to slow down the tendency. It will put a check to the growing repopulation of the seas by Diesel-engined vessels, and will do much to set the almost derelict coal industry upon its legs again.

People may ask: "Why should the nations trouble about their ships when international commerce is on the point of death?" The question is pertinent. Trade depression and its root cause, tariffs, have dealt a cruel blow to the mercantile marine. The fleets which once crowded the seven seas have shrunk to a shadow: even the passenger-carrying trade is moribund. We confess that no answer can be returned. So long as the nations bar commerce, so long the oldest traffic of all—the traffic which not only is an index to history, but, in a sense, is history itself—must continue to decline. When we consider the situation in this light, it does not seem to matter very much whether the steamer can, or cannot, hold her own against the motor ship. If traffic is doomed, there is no use for either. Yet a ray of hope dawns for the fleets of the British Commonwealth, and of the British Commonwealth alone. The very quality which is supposed to be the weakness of that union may prove to be the salvation of its mercantile marine. If success crowns the deliberations at Ottawa, commerce between the Dominions will be magnified many times, and the ships of the Empire will come once more into their own. The old tonnage which now lies idle in Australian ports will be pressed into service for the long voyages across a hemisphere, and the trans-Atlantic traffic alone will stir the hammers in Irish and Scottish shipyards.

Problems of the Reich.

The friction between the Reich Government and the Southern States suggests a parallel with the condition of affairs in Germany before the Franco-Prussian War. To-day the ostensible cause of the trouble is the possible imposition on Prussia by the Reich of a State Commissioner, unless her Diet can elect a Premier and form a Ministry. Hitherto, this desirable goal has not been reached owing to the refusal of the Centre Party to negotiate with the Nazis, who were left the largest individual group by the recent elections. No sooner did Bavaria, Württemberg and Baden learn of the new proposal than they demanded an immediate interview with President von Hindenburg to protest against such a course on the ground that it infringed the Constitution. President von Hindenburg at once undertook to meet the presidents of these States in the presence of the Chancellor, Herr von Papen. The meeting took place on Sunday, when, as we are told, the anxieties of the Southerners were "sensibly reduced." More, however, is likely to be heard about the relations between the States and the Reich; and the real origins of the crisis must be sought in German history. Herr von Papen's administration has revealed qualities which at first were unsuspected. In effect, it may be said to give a decent high command to the Nazi forces, of which Herr Hitler is so excellent a sergeant-major. The officers have come upon the parade ground. No doubt, it was a realisation of this fact which prompted the Bavarian Finance Minister to dub the von Papen régime "a victory for the capitalists and for the big landowners of Eastern Germany." Once again the South, which saw in the Republic a vindication of federal autonomy, fears a reconquest of Germany by Prussia in the Bismarckian tradition. Indeed, to the Bavarians, Württembergers and Badeners Herr von Papen towers as another von Roon, to the more timid as another von Bismarck. The general nervousness is increased by the approach of the Reich elections, and by the almost frankly monarchical sympathies of most of the members of Herr von Papen's Cabinet. Since monarchy is the obvious rallying point of the present Government, the Nazis and all Germans who are weary of the Republic, the alarm of Southern States is natural, especially when it is remembered that Hitlerism relies mostly on the North and East for its driving power. On the other hand, the partition of Germany would be the greater calamity both for herself and for the rest of the world.

An Oxford Society.

Once again Dublin University—the first to remove religious disabilities and the first to admit women—can claim honour as a pioneer among her kind. The Trinity College Association, which held its second annual dinner last Saturday, already has justified its purpose—to strengthen the bonds between graduates and the University. It has some four thousand members, whose present addresses are in all parts of the world. Formerly most of the graduates who went to Britain, India or the Dominions lost touch with Trinity College and with one another. Now, as members of the new Association, they can establish steady contacts through an official register, headquarters in the College, the annual dinner, and the colours—worn on neck-tie, blazer or tobacco pouch—whereby one Trinity man can recognise another in the streets of London or the pampas of Peru. Perhaps, this thought was in the air, or, perhaps, Dublin suggested it; at any rate, Oxford has decided to do now what Trinity College did three years ago. In a letter to The Times Viscount Grey of Falloden, Chancellor of Oxford University, proposes an Oxford Society, whose objects are identical with those of the Trinity College Association. It will be open to all members, past and present, of the University; it will keep a register and will circulate University news to its members, and the subscription for life membership (the Dublin subscription is one guinea) will be three pounds. Lord Grey says that the project originated at a recent gathering of representative Oxford men and has the support of the Hebdomadal Council. The Times, greeting it warmly, dwells not only on its sentimental, but on its concrete, merits. "It is apparent how much past can do for present—and for the common future—not so much by 'finding a man a job' as by helping to perfect the science of recruiting and to eliminate capital waste by enabling the right man to start in the right place." The new Society will do for Oxford what the Trinity College Association is doing for Dublin: it will give to external membership of the University a practical, as well as a sentimental, worth.

Then and Now.

About this time of the year many of us are tempted to draw invidious comparisons between the energies of our forefathers and our own. Cricket, especially, seems to provoke this derogatory attitude towards our own generation. We are reminded that, in the more robust days of yore, tea intervals were unknown in first-class matches. Was not the famous Oxford and Cambridge match of 1870 concluded on the second day some hour and a half later than would be deemed tolerable by modern weaklings? No doubt, Mr. F. C. Cobden owed the performance of his classic hat-trick, which finished the game, as much to the exhaustion of the last three Oxonians as to his own prowess with the ball; but such trifles are ignored by these stout supporters of a supposedly sterner past. Like charges are levelled against sportsmen in the shooting field, who are held to esteem leisurely battues of pheasants above heavy walking after game. Here the laudator temporis acti can be challenged on a point of fact; for not only are modern incomes rarely equal to the provision of elaborate driving, but most genuine sportsmen prefer rough shooting over dogs. Yet, even if it is not always justified, the conviction of the elderly that there were giants in those days of their youth has its value. Without it the greater facilities in matters of transport and other amenities, which we enjoy to-day, inevitably would induce a certain tendency to slackness. A tradition can be a useful stimulus, whatever its origins may be. History teems with such instances, and many regiments, in the crisis of battle, have been rallied by fervent reminders of their legendary heroism in earlier fights.

JEWELS OF THE QUEEN OF SPAIN.

TOBACCO MAGNATE AND ALLEGED PAWNING.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MADRID, Monday.

An accusation that he played the part of money-lender in the pawning of Queen Ena's jewels has been levelled against Don Juan March, tobacco "king," arraigned for illegal practices. March indignantly denies that the Queen ever pawned her jewels.

The corruption of which he is accused is in connection with obtaining under the dictatorship the valuable monopoly for the sale of tobacco in Spanish Morocco.

Señor Gil Robles, defending, has produced documents to show that the present Government is guilty of the practices of which they charge Don Juan March in granting the same tobacco monopoly against the laws of the country to a French company with "dummy" Spanish directors.

BEST ADVERTISING.

NEWSPAPERS FOR QUICK RESULTS.

Sir Max Muspratt, an immediate past president of the Federation of British Industries, speaking at a luncheon given to the delegates attending the annual convention of the Advertising Association at Liverpool yesterday, said that manufacturers frankly did not understand the business of putting it over to consumers. The science of production, he pointed out, was comparatively easy, but distribution was a question of psychology.

Mr. J. Marquis, managing director of a well-known Northern England store, said that newspapers in that country had an amazing asset in the public respect for the printed word, and he was convinced that there was no more valuable medium than newspapers for carrying trade to the public and for getting quick results.

THE LATE SIR HENRY SEGRAVE.

WREATHS ON LAKE WINDERMERE.

Two years ago Miss England II. sank in Lake Windermere, and in memory of Sir Henry Segrave and Mr. Victor Halliwell, who lost their lives, wreaths were placed on the water where the boat went down.

Members of the Windermere Motor Boat Club drank a bottle of wine sent from Italy by Gabrielle D'Annunzio, the Italian poet, with a message that it should be drunk "to the immortal and glorious memory of Sir Henry Segrave and his men."

Wreaths were dropped from the steamboat Shamrock, and as they sank three blasts were sounded on the siren. One wreath was from Miss Marian Carstairs and crew of Chelsea, and was deposited by Mr. Michael Willcocks, the surviving engineer.

SLUMDOM'S GAY ATTIRE.

THE COST OF BUNTING.

POOR'S SACRIFICE TO THE CONGRESS.

BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

WHAT is the real "human" story under the miles of bunting that have for the time transformed the slums of Dublin into centres of brightness and colour?

While Greater Dublin, from the mountains to the sea and from Dun Laoghaire to Howth, is everywhere gay with colour, nowhere is decoration more lavish than in the slum areas, and of these it might almost be said that the extent of the decorations increases in proportion to the apparent poverty of the district. Down in the dark turnings, where the feet of few of the pilgrims will tread, squalor and misery have been decked with brightness in a manner which is symbolic of the pitiful struggles and sacrifices which in many cases have been necessary to provide the flags and bunting which are everywhere displayed.

Yesterday I walked through the Coombe, the district which contains most of the worst of Dublin's slums. Nearly every street was draped from end to end with strips of colour that caught the sunshine as it has never before been caught in these dismal quarters. Streamers of blue, white and gold pennants form archways overhead, and at intervals there hang large banners in the Congress colours of blue and gold, the Papal colours of gold and white, or the triple hues of the Free State national flag.

BEAUTIFUL SHRINES.

Beautiful shrines, small ones set in niches high on the walls, and larger ones under canvas coverings on the ground, add to the impressive quality of the scene, and they are equipped with candles which will be lighted during the Congress week.

Newmarket street is an alley, perhaps, twelve feet wide, flanked on both sides by mean houses. Few streets in the city can boast of a more elaborate display of colour. All the colours of Joseph's coat are to be seen fluttering overhead, forming a canopy which is broken here and there by banners with sacred mottoes and devices. In Dean street one is confronted by two shrines, one large, in the form of an altar, with plaster saints on each side, and an imposing array of candles; the other, immediately beside it, consisting of a rockery of whitened stones surmounted by a Virgin and a lamp.

All these decorations, of which this is a single example, are provided for the poor by the poor. Streets are decorated as a result of subscriptions raised among the residents, and, although a few pence from each is sufficient to provide the shillings that are necessary to decorate the street, pence are scarce among these people, whose every halfpenny in many cases is mortgaged before it is earned. A shopkeeper told me of the struggles which many people have to endure to assist.

"The general method in these districts," he explained, "is that of a penny a week subscription for a few weeks ahead. They appoint a treasurer to collect the money, usually one of us shopkeepers. This, of course, entails no great hardship, but many people are not content with this, and will spend several shillings, sometimes a pound or two, in the purchase of individual flags and in setting up and equipping shrines. I could tell you some distressing stories of the hardships that they go through in order to do that

NO MEAT NOW.

"Many men in this neighbourhood are smoking less tobacco in order to make up part of the outlay, but, of course, it goes much farther than that. There is a number of people around here who normally have only one meat dinner a week, and who are now doing without it altogether. Yet, so proud are they of their displays, that they have no regrets, and are satisfied that the money is spent in the best possible way."

The work in the Phœnix Park in connection with the Congress is fast approaching completion, and, except for a few finishing touches here and there by skilled workmen, everything is now in readiness.

As one approaches the Parkgate street entrance, the first thing to catch the eye is an imposing triumphal arch, which has replaced the old gates. Comprised of three spans, it is built of woodwork and plaster, giving the impression of a solid stone structure of a very pleasing design. It has mounted on the top a huge Congress badge

PROMINENT VISITORS.

The main thoroughfare through the Park is flanked on each side with flag standards of blue and gold, but as yet no decorations have been erected. It is along this beflagged road that the procession will march from the gates, and at the end they will come to the High Altar.

Here, indeed, is a work of art. The altar, which has already been the subject of praise and admiration by hundreds of visitors, is virtually completed.

There has been a general anxiety on the part of visitors to view the altar, and throughout the week large crowds have made their way to the Park on foot and by car. So great has been the rush that it has been found advisable to increase the Guard, and ten Civic Guards are now on duty night and day as compared with two in the earlier stages of the work. Strangers from many parts of the world have admired the work, and priests, nuns and clergy of all denominations have been to see it.

Immediately in front of the altar the various areas which will be allotted to different parties have been set out and numbered.

A replica of the altar is on view at Messrs. Clery's, O'Connell street, Dublin.

Among those who have arrived for the Congress are:—The Right Rev. Monsignor Drumm, Bishop of Des Moines; the Right Rev. Monsignor Turner, Bishop of Buffalo, and the Right Rev. Dr. Swint, Bishop of Wheeling; the Most Rev. Dr. Dowling, Archbishop of Port of Spain.

The Cunard liner Carinthia, which arrived at Galway yesterday, landed the largest number of passengers at that port (750) since Atlantic liners resumed calling there, carried the largest number of passengers to the Free State of any individual ship, and its 1,900 passengers was the biggest complement the Carinthia has ever carried. The Right Rev. Monsignor J. J. Hogan, a native of Limerick, was among the party of 45 priests arriving for the Congress. The Cunard Line landed 2,400 persons in the Free State last week, of whom 60 per cent. landed at Galway. The Samaria is due in at the week-end with another large company, including Cardinal W. O'Connell, of Boston.

MISSIONARY EXHIBITION.

A foreign missionary exhibition will be held at 86 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, during the Congress Week.

The exhibition, which will open on Friday next, will show the various phases of work connected with the Irish missionaries concentrated in Africa. The exhibits will include souvenirs from the West Coast, which will recall the great crusade for the conversion of Africa, of which Monsignor Barron and two Irish confrères were the pioneers in 1842. From the East Coast there will be exhibits that go back to the days of Livingstone and Stanley.

Clay models and artistically-coloured and lighted diorama of each vicariate will help one to understand the difficulties of building up a mission with its stone church and appropriate house and schools from the mud hut stage.

The Society of African Missions, which is conducting the exhibition, has upwards of one hundred Irish priests in their four great vicariates—North Nigeria, West Nigeria, Benin and Liberia.

The Society of St. Patrick for African Missions—Ireland's youngest missionary society—will exhibit the interior of a crude native church, typical of the rough primitive country where they are working.

Exhibits of the work of the Irish Capuchins, the Sisters of St. Joseph of Cluny, the Sisters of the Holy Rosary, the Sisters of Our Lady of the Apostles, and the Irish Dominican Sisters will also be on view.

MR. DOOGE'S BEREAVEMENT.

At a meeting of the Dean's Grange Joint Burial Board, held on Friday last, the following vote of condolence was passed to Mr. L. Dooge and his family on the death of his son: "That this Board learns with regret of the death of Mr. L. Dooge, son of our worthy colleague, Mr. J. P. Dooge, and desires to convey to him its sincere sympathy in his bereavement."

LONDON LETTER.

AN IRISH DEBATE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

Members of the House of Commons, generally, are interested in the probability of an Irish debate on Friday, and many of them express a desire to take part. Mr. Thomas is expected to make an opening statement, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, Mr. Winston Churchill and some of the members from Northern Ireland may speak in the subsequent debate. It is understood, however, that, if circumstances develop which would make a debate inadvisable, the proceedings will be adjourned until later. It is not often that a full dress debate on a very important subject is taken on a Friday, but this appears to be the earliest and best day available, and a discussion may clear the air. Members have refrained from pressing Mr. Thomas on points on which they desired information, fearing to prejudice any negotiations. There is no little anxiety, however, regarding any steps that may be taken by the Government if it receives an intimation that the land annuities will not be forthcoming.

The Imperial Conference.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, questioned this afternoon on the issuing by the Canadian Government of the agenda for the Imperial Conference, said that the Canadian Government was still in communication with other Dominions. I understand, however, that the publication will not be delayed much longer; for the Canadian Government may decide to abandon its original intention of circulating a draft agenda, and, instead, may publish the agenda in full. Mr. Thomas, regretting the absence of the agenda, said that he would give the House of Commons all the information at his disposal during the debate on the Conference on Thursday.

Russian Wheat.

The wheat position in Russia is curious. Once Russia was the greatest grain-exporting country of the world, but now she is importing wheat herself, and shipowners are speculating whether a new and permanent trade is developing, or whether the demand is temporary, and due to a period of disorganisation. In former days the Russian grain trade was one of the biggest sheet anchors of the British tramp steamer, and there was a regular routine. Ships would take a cargo of coal out to Italy, would continue to the Black Sea in ballast, and there would take a full load of grain for Great Britain or ports in Europe. Italy's demand for coal has fallen away owing to the greater use made of water power, so that the journeys to the Black Sea are not so numerous, though last year many ships went in ballast to bring back the Russian wheat. To-day vessels are carrying grain and flour from Vancouver to Vladivostock, and inquiries are being made for further ships. It is understood that there is a big demand for wheat from many districts in Russia, but the point is how the grain can be carried there.

Aerodromes.

The civil aviation section of the London Chamber of Commerce has submitted a memorandum to the Secretary of State for Air, urging the provision of adequate aerodrome facilities to meet the development of civil aviation in this country. The development of commercial air transport and amateur flying in Great Britain has reached a stage where the question assumes primary importance. At present the majority of aerodromes are owned and operated privately. Comparatively few local authorities have taken steps to provide them, though they are empowered to borrow money for such a purpose. The memorandum suggests that assistance shall be given on strict conditions in the general public interest for the establishment of airports by private owners, and that such assistance shall not be confined to local authorities, who may, or may not, be willing to undertake the work. It is feared that, unless some definite scheme is adopted shortly, the provision of airports will become so expensive as to be impracticable.

The Abandoned Cunarder.

Evidently reports that work is to be resumed in the near future on the new Cunard liner are without foundation, and it is probable that they arose through a misinterpretation of a contract which has been placed for painting. The unfinished vessel requires a coat of protective paint, in order to preserve the metal in good condition, and arrangements have been made for this work to be carried out. This has no connection with any question of the resumption of work on the constructional details, and up to the present the situation with regard to the completion of the ship is the same as when the work was suspended.

Antarctic Exploration.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, the Australian Polar explorer and airman, who attempted to reach the North Pole by submarine a year or two ago, is planning a new expedition to the Antarctic, to start in the autumn. Sir Hubert has just arrived in London from Norway, and is reticent about his plans; but it is understood that he has selected a suitable vessel, and that his equipment will include an aeroplane to carry out flights over unexplored territory. This will be the third Antarctic expedition arranged for the end of this year. The others have been organised by Rear-Admiral Byrd and by Mr. Lindoln Ellsworthy, who provided the funds for the Amundsen expeditions.

Canterbury Cathedral.

The Chapter of Canterbury Cathedral finds the Society known as the Friends of Canterbury Cathedral extremely helpful in maintaining the fabric and in adding to the resources of the Cathedral in other ways. It is hoped that many of these supporters will rally to a festival to be held this week. The Dean of St. Paul's will preach on Saturday, and there will be a gathering in the Chapter House, with speeches by a number of well-known people. Before the "Friends' Day" will be a four days' festival of music and drama. The promoters hope to give a serenade in the cloisters on Wednesday and an orchestral concert in the Cathedral on Monday. Plans include a recital of music, a musical talk, and four performances of Tennyson's "Becket." Years ago Sir Henry Irving gave a reading of this play in the Chapter House, but it has never been produced in the home of its greatest scene—the precincts of Canterbury Cathedral. The festival of the Diocesan Choral Union to-morrow will form an integral part of the week.

The British Census.

The first volume of the reports of the British Census of 1931 will be published within the next four days, and thus will save about four months in comparison with the corresponding volume of ten years ago. The saving of time has been due largely to a more extensive use of calculating and sorting machines, which have been improved greatly in the last few years. The preliminary figures of the census were issued during last July, and the first complete report to be published will deal with London County, which includes all the twenty-eight metropolitan boroughs. Further volumes will be issued from time to time, and the reports from every county will be completed within the next twelve months.

NEW RECORDER OF ROTHERHAM.

The King has approved a recommendation of the Home Secretary, that Mr. Geoffrey Hugh Benbow, Streatfeild, be appointed Recorder of Rotherham, to succeed Mr. Richard Storry Deans, who has been appointed Recorder of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

THE RECENT LONDON NEGOTIATIONS.

POSSIBLE RESUMPTION AT AN EARLY DATE.

STATEMENT IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

A FURTHER COMMUNICATION FROM DUBLIN LIKELY.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

IT has remained for the British Dominions Minister (Mr. J. H. Thomas) to give the first authoritative indication that the British Government do not regard the negotiations with the Free State Government as at an end. His statement in the House of Commons yesterday was not altogether conclusive.

"It is likely," he said, "that a further communication will be received from Mr. de Valera after he has had the opportunity of discussion with his colleagues."

This opportunity came last night, when the Executive Council of the Irish Free State had a further long meeting, but no statement was issued at its conclusion.

It seems to be expected that the President may make a statement of some kind in the Dail to-day, or he may reserve it for the Senate to-morrow, when the Oath Bill will be up for consideration on report stage. Only one amendment has been put down for this stage, and this is to alter the long title of the bill by deleting the words "and also (to amend) the Constitution of the Irish Free State (Saorstat Eireann) Act, 1932." This deletion is merely formal, and consequential on the deletion in Committee of Section 2 of the bill as originally drafted.

OTTAWA AND LAND ANNUITIES

The subject of the negotiations was raised in the House of Commons yesterday, and it appears from the statement of Mr. Thomas that the British Government expects to be in touch with President de Valera again at an early date.

Colonel Gretton (Conservative, Burton) asked the Dominions Secretary if he could make a statement regarding the Irish Free State position.

Mr. Thomas—I have nothing to add to the official communiqué, issued last Friday, except that I understand that it is likely that a further communication will be received from the President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State after he has had an opportunity of discussion with his colleagues.

Mr. Lansbury—May I ask whether, in view of the intense interest in the country and this House in the matter, the Government considers Friday to be a good day for that discussion?

Mr. Thomas—I am sure the House, and certainly the Government, appreciate to the full not only the courtesy, but the consideration, of my right hon. friend in not attempting to handicap or embarrass the Government—(cheers)—and I think, in all the circumstances, both of the events leading up to last week's negotiations, and the position as I see it at the moment, that it would be better for all that the debate should take place on Friday.

Col. Gretton asked whether the House could be informed if there were any developments before Friday.

Mr. Thomas—If there are any circumstances that would warrant the Government feeling that a debate was unnecessary, then they certainly would take through the usual channels the opportunity of preventing the debate taking place. Otherwise I can see no useful purpose in informing the House of anything prior to Friday, seeing that we are then to have a full discussion.

Sir Hugh O'Neill (Conservative, Antrim)—In order to allay a certain amount of apprehension which the question has raised, can he possibly tell the House now whether any discussion took place relating to Northern Ireland, and, if so, can he give an assurance that the Government will not assent to any interference with the position of Ulster in the Constitution of the United Kingdom? (Cheers.)

Mr. Thomas—Whilst I can understand and appreciate the natural apprehension of Ulster as a whole, and my hon. friend in particular, surely he should be the first to appreciate the fact that, as we are to have a full debate, the best time to deal with it would be at that debate, and in the interval I am quite sure he knows sufficient of the Government as a whole to be under no apprehension and to have no sleepless nights. (Cheers.)

OTTAWA CONFERENCE.

DUBLIN'S REQUEST TO THE GOVERNMENT.

At the monthly meeting of the Council of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce yesterday—the Vice-President, Mr. H. M. Dockrell, T.D., in the chair—the following resolution was passed unanimously:—

"That this Council of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce notes with satisfaction the announcement that members of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State Government will attend the Imperial Conference at Ottawa.

"The Council earnestly requests the Government

(1) to obtain a preference on the British market for Irish Free State products not less than the preference accorded to any other nation, whether by general preference or by bilateral agreement;

(2) to maintain the present status of the Irish Free State and of its nationals in the British Commonwealth of Nations."

The Council noted that the annual general meeting of the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the Irish Free State will be held in Commercial Buildings, Dame street, Dublin, on Thursday, 30th June, and it was decided to forward the resolution to the Association.

AN IRISH DEBATE AT WESTMINSTER.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE MAY SPEAK.

Unless there is an unexpected development in the interval, says the Press Association Lobby Correspondent, the Irish situation will be debated in the House of Commons on Friday. Parliament has not yet been told why last week's negotiations came to nothing, and, although members feel that they know already, they are looking forward with a good deal of interest to the Government's statement of the causes of the failure.

Mr. Thomas's announcement that a further communication is likely to be received from Mr. de Valera has not awakened any great hopes of an immediate change in the situation.

The Government statement on Friday will be made by Mr. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, and Mr. Churchill will be one of the principal speakers. Mr. Lloyd George intends to be present, and he may take part in the debate. He was Prime Minister when the Irish Treaty was signed. Mr. Lloyd George has not yet delivered a speech in this Parliament.

REPARATIONS AND DISARMAMENT.

U.S. BANKER POINTS THE WAY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Monday.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, Miss Isbbel Macdonald and Sir John Simon, together with M. Herriot, the French Premier, and the members of the French delegation, arrived here this evening. To-morrow they will attend the meeting of the General Committee of the Disarmament Conference.

Mr. Macdonald is going on to Lausanne on Wednesday afternoon in order to attend the preliminary meeting of the Lausanne Reparations Conference.

Chancellor von Papen has decided to go to Lausanne to-morrow, and will act as head of the German delegation to the Reparations Conference for a few days. He will then leave Freiherr von Neurath, the Foreign Secretary, in charge.

Asked in the British House of Commons for an assurance that the Government would not propose for discussion at or in connection with the Lausanne Conference the question of the return of that country to the gold standard, the Chancellor of the Exchequer replied that the Government considered it would not be desirable for the country to return to the gold standard so long as existing conditions continue.

"Reparations and debts are contributing more than anything else to the present unsettled conditions," declared Mr. Stewart Baker, President of the New York State Bankers' Association, in a significant speech advocating the reduction of both reparations and inter-Allied debts, and at the same time a cuts in armaments, at the annual convention of that body to-day.

Mr. Baker urged the nations "to sit down in a spirit of friendly co-operation, and work out a plan to remove the greatest obstacle to a return to normalcy."

"We should," said, "stand ready to concede as much proportionately as any other nation. The welfare of the United States is inescapably dependent on conditions throughout the world."

MUCH ADO ABOUT THE NAVY.

VILLAGERS ALARMED BY SHIPS' VISIT.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
LARNE, Monday.

The British aircraft carrier, Courageous, and the destroyer, Vesper, which are on a visit to Larne, have unconsciously given residents of the village of Cushendall a great thrill.

Both vessels put in close to Cushendall coastline, and Courageous sent up two flights of 'planes on survey work to the great wonderment of the village folk, who gathered about discussing what it might signify. Then someone sighted two imaginary submarines in the Channel, and it was whispered that British ships were on the look out for gun-running attempts by Soviet steamers. Another theory was that search was being made for a seaplane lost in the Channel.

Residents sought enlightenment from the local police, but they, too, were at a loss to know what was taking place, and when the whole village was in the throes of tense excitement the Courageous called back her brood of 'planes and disappeared over the horizon.

Some of the officers of the Courageous heard an account of the whole affair to-day and were greatly annoyed. "This whole story is sheer nonsense from beginning to end," an officer explained. "We sent up some 'planes at Cushendall, called them back and steamed for Larne. That's all."

"The credulity of some people," he added, "makes it most necessary for the Navy to be really careful."

A LONG SITTING.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL RISES AT MIDNIGHT.

After almost six hours' sitting the Free State Executive Council rose at 12.50 a.m. Mr. de Valera, on leaving the Government Buildings, said that there was no statement for the Press.

The death is announced of Mr. William Westall, aged 92, of Faringdon, Berkshire, who had had the remarkable experience of having celebrated two silver weddings.

UNION JACK IN NEWRY.

HOISTED OVER TOWN HALL.

COUNCILLOR VOICES DISAPPROVAL.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
NEWRY, Monday.

AT a meeting of Newry Urban Council this evening, Mr. H. J. McConville presiding, an animated and protracted discussion took place regarding the flying of the Union Jack on the Town Hall. The flag has frequently been renewed, and the last renewal virtually coincided with the decoration of the town for Eucharistic Congress week, and followed a meeting of the Council at which permission was given to fly the Eucharistic flag on the Hall alongside the Union Jack.

Mr. Myles Connell (Labour and ex-Service men) raised the matter, saying that beyond the permission given at the last meeting no one had any authority to put any flag or decoration on the Hall, which was the property of the ratepayers. As they were aware, the Union Jack had been flying on the Hall for some time past, and it had been the custom to renew it from time to time. He regretted to say that in the opinion of the vast majority of ratepayers it had been renewed on the last occasion as a deliberate insult to a certain section of the community, and from inquiries he had made he found it had been hoisted by a body of unauthorised persons, who forced their way into the Town Hall and compelled the caretaker to show them the trap-door through which they could ascend and hoist the flag. No one had sacrificed more for that flag than he and his wife's family, but the flag now flying he regarded as a symbol of insult to his fellow-Catholics in the town. The Council would be absolutely justified in ordering its removal, and he moved that they instruct their officials to remove it, and that, if anyone attempted to force their way into the Town Hall without leave or approval, they be prosecuted for "breaking and entering."

Mr. Terence Ruddy (Nationalist) seconded.

Mr. Eric Thompson (Unionist) regarded it as remarkable that Mr. Connell should bring the matter up after the friendly way in which the Council met Father Magee, Adm., Newry, and gave permission for the hoisting of the Eucharistic flag. He would strenuously object to the taking down of the Union Jack.

Mr. W. F. Cunningham (Labour) said that when a special constable died the flag was lowered to half-mast, but when Cardinal O'Donnell's funeral passed through Newry a few days later it was flying mast high.

Mr. Connell was asked to withdraw his motion, but declined to do so, and the six Unionist members left the meeting.

The Chairman eventually assured Mr. Connell that negotiations were proceeding with the authorities over the matter, and he would definitely report the result at the first meeting in August.

Mr. Connell agreed to wait until then, and the discussion ended.

THE ABYSSINIAN AFFAIR.

ESCAPED EX-EMPEROR RECAPTURED.

ADDIS ABABA, Monday.

Lij Yasu, the ex-Emperor of Abyssinia, who escaped from custody last week disguised as a woman, and issued defiant messages to Haile Silassie, the present Emperor, has been recaptured.

The Abyssinian Foreign Office made the following official statement to Reuter's Correspondent to-day:—

"His Majesty the Emperor Haile Silassie first issued a proclamation throughout Gojjam, saying that he had heard that Lij Yasu had entered that country, and he commanded that all must search for him and arrest him. The Gojjam officials supposed, or believed to be, supporters of Lij Yasu must carry out the Emperor's orders, and search for the escaped man.

"The Emperor's troops have surrounded the country in which Lij Yasu is hiding, and an official of Gojjam found and arrested him in a gorge on the farther side of the Blue Nile. Lij Yasu was brought back, and handed over to the commanding officer of the Emperor's troops yesterday morning."

Lij Yasu was deposed in 1917, and had been held in custody since by Ras Kassa, a noble with a great following, who has since been under virtual arrest.

THE TARIFF ON BOOKS.

SOME CONCESSIONS.

According to an Order dated 11th June, the full tariff on "books of all kinds printed in the English language and bound in leather, or in any imitation of leather," is 30 per cent.; preferential 20 per cent. Cloth-bound books are admitted free.

Duty shall not be paid on books which, in the opinion of the Revenue Commissioners, are of a scientific or educational character ordinarily required for use in schools, colleges and universities.

The Revenue Commissioners may admit, without payment of duty, books liable to duty which are imported for the use of libraries, which are libraries not run for private profit.

£30.000 PRIZE-WINNER.

BROOKLYN MAN'S JOURNEY TO DUBLIN.

On board the liner Carinthia, which arrived at Galway yesterday, was Mr. E. Beattie, of Brooklyn, winner of a £30,000 prize in the Irish Hospitals' Derby Sweepstake. He is coming on to Dublin to claim the money.

He handed his ticket to the ship's purser for safety when going aboard, and did not disclose his identity to anyone during the voyage.

He was greatly surprised yesterday when a newspaper representative asked him for an interview. Mr. Beattie said that he wanted no publicity, as he had been already "boosted" in the American papers.

Also on board was Captain W. R. West, who accompanied Mr. R. Somerset and his crew in the forty-ton sailing yacht Jolie Brise from Plymouth to New York for the race from New York to Bermuda. They left Plymouth at the end of March, and landed at Oyster Bay on May 26th.

CANADIAN DUMPING DUTIES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
OTTAWA, Saturday.

The average of the pound sterling on invoices for British imports is fixed from June 16th till June 30th for purposes of special dumping valuation at 4.23 dollars.

This means that a special duty of 17 cents per pound sterling on invoice valuations will be levied on British goods entering Canada during that period.

BRITISH PROTEST TO CHILE.

CONFISCATORY MEASURES.

MODERATE OUSTED FROM JUNTA.

RAPID STEPS TOWARDS COMMUNISM.

THE British Government's attitude to the new régime in Chile, and the action taken to preserve British interests in that country, were disclosed in the House of Commons yesterday, when Mr. Eden, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, answering a number of questions, said: Decrees had been issued declaring the Central Bank to be a State bank; requiring the shares of Chilean banks to be declared at their nominal value, and giving bonds in exchange; suppressing directorates and arrogating complete control to the Junta; and similarly taking over all foreign currency deposits of the banks.

His Majesty's Government had not entered into official relations with the present Government, but His Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires had been instructed to inform them that His Majesty's Government took the most serious view of these confiscatory measures, and that, if carried out, they would strongly support the demand for full compensation for the British interests affected.

POLICE PROTECTION.

In reply to similar representations affecting the protection of British lives and property His Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires had received an assurance that adequate police protection would be provided for British subjects.

As regards the external debt obligations of Chile it was clear that in present circumstances an inquiry to the Chilean Government as to its intentions respecting foreign capital would serve no useful purpose, but all these aspects of the matter would be kept constantly in view.

Sir A. M. Samuel asked whether it would not be helpful if the British, the United States and the French Governments were to intimate to the present Chilean Government that they did not intend to recognise the Government.

Mr. Eden said that he thought the answer he had given would be understood.

Mr. Cocks (Labour, Broxtowe)—Would it not be better to send a message of congratulation and welcome to the new Socialist Government in Chile?

Mr. Turton asked: Would the Government consider intimating that any measures taken prejudicial to British interests would be met by a high tariff against Chilean goods?

There was no reply.

DISCORD IN THE JUNTA.

Meanwhile, the struggle for power between the rival elements in the new Chilean Government has culminated in the resignation of Don Carlos Davila, hitherto the spokesman of the Junta, telegraphs Reuter's correspondent in Santiago.

His downfall was precipitated by his moderation towards foreign interests, particularly in the Nitrate Combine, in which most of the capital is owned by British and Americans. He was also accused of aiding an attempt to restore the former President, Ibañez, who resigned in July last year after a four years' dictatorship. Nationalists blamed Ibañez for the "unconstitutional" law under which the Cosach Combine was constituted.

Colonel Marmaduke Grove, the Chilean son of an Irish doctor, the power behind the Junta, is believed to have engineered the resignation.

One report received in Buenos Aires goes so far as to suggest that Colonel Grove is seeking to establish a Soviet régime with himself as Dictator.

The workers, it is said, expect and demand the establishment of Communism. Various municipal councils have been converted into workers' committees. At Vina del Mar, in the outskirts of Valparaiso, it is reported that the new councillors took off their collars at their first meeting to demonstrate the arrival of the "Proletariats' Day."

RIOTS IN THE CAPITAL.

Members of the Red Guard are said to have attacked the Union Club in Santiago. Street cars were overturned and smashed during clashes in the streets between Red Guards and White Guards. Conservative and Liberal newspaper offices were wrecked.

Rumours are circulating that Ibañez is heading a counter-revolution in Southern Chile.

A conference between a Government delegate and foreign bank managers was held in Valparaiso to-day, according to the Valparaiso newspaper La Union, regarding the decree for the confiscation of foreign currency deposits in Chilean banks. The conference broke up without, however, achieving any definite result.

THREE WOMEN SHOT.

BODIES FOUND IN A WOOD.

The bodies of three women were discovered in Kingswood, in the parish of Wye, near Challock cross road, about six miles from Ashford, Kent, last night.

The discovery of the bodies was made by a Mr. Walton, a 'bus conductor, who has since given a statement to the police. The bodies were removed to Ashford, and up to a late hour last night had not been identified.

The bodies are those of a girl, aged about 15, and two women, aged about 35 and 65.

All three died from gunshot wounds.

It is understood that the doctor from Ashford Hospital who examined the bodies came to the conclusion that in no case could the bullet wounds have been self-inflicted.

The police are, therefore, working on the theory that all three have been murdered. The girl and the two women were well dressed and had been dead for some hours.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Janie Swift, aged 65, of Ye Olde Sportsman's Inn, Seasalter, near Whitstable, Kent; her daughter, Mrs. Jennie Tremayne Stemp, aged 35, of Wadhurst, Sussex, and Peggy Stemp, the daughter of Mrs. Stemp.

TECHNICAL EXPERTS SNUBBED

BY CHAIRMAN OF THE ARMS CONFERENCE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Monday.

"Disarmament is a problem for politicians to solve, not one for technical experts," was a remark greeted by prolonged cheers when Mr. Arthur Henderson addressed to-day a deputation of international disarmament organisations.

The Disarmament Conference, he declared, had not failed, even though the progress made had not been what could be desired. A drastic and universal reduction of armaments was what world opinion imperiously demanded.

Mr. Henderson was optimistic regarding the success of the first stage of the Conference, but emphasised that all depended on the decisions of the Governments concerned.

A DIARY OF DEATH.

MOTORIST'S LAST HOUR RECORDED.

EXHAUST FUMES IN SALOON CAR.

SEATED at the driving wheel of his car, under a tree at High Beach, Epping Forest, a commercial traveller yesterday wrote a death diary while fumes from his engine gradually poisoned him. Last night the body was identified as that of William Hollis Dickman (40), of Northcote road, Walthamstow, London.

When Dickman was found by the police he was lying over the steering wheel of his saloon car. The engine was running, and near his mouth was a length of rubber hose which had carried the exhaust gases into the car. Beside the body the police found a bank paying-in book. On the cover his name was written, and underneath in large letters the warning: "Mind the exhaust."

On the back of a page which had been torn from this book Dickman had written a diary of the vehicles which passed him during the hour preceding his death. Each entry was timed, the first being made shortly after midday. Then, at short intervals, were written the numbers of the cars which had, apparently, passed along the adjoining road

THE LAST ENTRY.

Midway in the diary came a note of the passing of a police sergeant in uniform. Then, at 12.45 p.m., in writing less clear than the bold entries preceding it, the dying man had written: "Engine still running." The last note—a car number—was made at 12.55. Near the diary was a sealed letter addressed to his wife.

A motorist saw Dickman lying on the steering wheel, and, thinking he was ill, telephoned the police. When they arrived at 1.30 the police officers lifted the man into the fresh air. A doctor was summoned, and it was found that Dickman had died soon after the last half-illegible entry in his diary.

Dickman was employed by a city bacon company. He had been living at Walthamstow for many years and had a grown-up family. A neighbour said: "We had always looked upon him as a quiet and happy family man. He always appeared quite cheerful and contented. He used a car for his business. None of us knew him very well."

PAWNBROKER'S SUICIDE.

A second death in similar circumstances was that of Charles Toft Smith (58), a pawnbroker, of Heyworth street, Everton, Liverpool, who should have appeared at Liverpool Police Court yesterday to answer summonses under the Pawnbrokers Act. How he was found dead in his motor car on Sunday was described at the inquest at Formby (Lancs.) yesterday when a verdict of suicide, there being insufficient evidence to show the state of mind, was recorded.

A gamekeeper to Lord Sefton stated that on Sunday morning he saw a stationary motor car in a quiet lane and a man lying on the back seat apparently asleep. He noticed that a rubber tube was fixed to the exhaust pipe and led through a window to the inside of the car. He found the man was dead.

A Liverpool detective said that he served twenty-five summonses on Smith a week ago, and they were to be heard yesterday. They related to alleged excessive charges on pledges at his pawnshop in Heyworth street.

When the matter was mentioned at Liverpool Police Court yesterday Smith's death was reported, and the police were given leave to withdraw the summonses.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

DISARMAMENT.

The Times in a leading article to-day states:—Mr. Macdonald and Sir John Simon travelled from Paris to Geneva yesterday in the company of the French Prime Minister, M. Herriot, with whom they were thus able to continue in the train the friendly colloquy begun in Paris. In the French capital the discussions were devoted mainly to reparations, while to-day and to-morrow at Geneva disarmament will be the chief topic. Every delegation has supported the principle of reduction and limitation—in some cases total abolition has been urged—of those arms whose character is most specifically offensive, which are most efficacious against national defence or most threatening to civilians; and, if curtailment must necessarily, for the present, be preferred to abolition, the work of the technical committees will be found to have definite value.

Nor is qualitative limitation the only method of which a succession of delegates have expressed strong approval. There has been virtual unanimity that a permanent supervisory commission should be set up to exercise control equally over the armaments of all nations—which would in itself be a notable international innovation. The great majority of delegations have also subscribed to the limitation, both of effectives and of budgetary expenditure. In these days of national impoverishment most countries would probably warmly welcome the opportunity to reduce their Budgets by any commonly agreed proportional plan, and the British Government, besides having given a practical lead in the reduction of expenditure, are understood to be willing to make definite proposals for a general advance in this direction.

Now that there has been so much delay, the difference of another week or two will matter less than that the next step shall be opportunely taken. The conferences at Geneva and Lausanne complement one another, and a useful decision by either must help forward the work of the other.

MENACE OF HITLER'S "ARMY."

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
COLOGNE, Monday.

Last-hour appeals to the President to deny the resurrection of Hitler's "storm troops" are being made by the Centre (Catholic) Party. It is expected that Hindenburg will lift the ban against the army, which he imposed two months ago, on Wednesday this week.

Hitler's private army, according to the Catholics, will be a constant menace to peace in the thickly-populated districts of West Germany. They fear that the troops will become a "Pretorian Guard" against the people.

If the storm troops are allowed to reappear, they will be wearing a new uniform, consisting of a military greatcoat similar to that of the British infantry and a cap with a death's head insignia.

MORE TERRORISM IN BENGAL.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
CALCUTTA, Monday.

The District Magistrate and the Superintendent of Police at Faridpur, both Indians, narrowly escaped assassination last night, when a bomb was thrown at their carriage as the train in which they were travelling was leaving Rajbahari. The bomb fell in an empty compartment next door.

THE CRUISE OF THE GEORGIC.

TRIBUTE PAID TO DESIGNERS.

BRITISH VISA POLICY CRITICISED.

FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
LIVERPOOL, Monday.

THE need for economic unity of the British people as a means by which inhabitants of these islands and compatriots overseas could get back to better times and conditions was stressed by representatives of world shipping, financial and tourist concerns at a dinner to 400 guests on board the new Atlantic motor liner Georgic during her trial cruise in the Irish Sea on Sunday evening.

The Georgic, the latest addition to the White Star fleet and sister ship to Britannic, embodies all the latest designs for speed, comfort and safety; is of 27,000 tons, and was built by Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Belfast.

"We do, in this country, see glimmers of a silver lining to the clouds that have overshadowed us and the world so long," said Mr. A. B. Canty, director and general manager of the White Star Line, proposing the toast, "Our Guests." Britain, he added, had now come into line with other countries, but the travelling public who, as passengers, were the life-blood of shipping companies were impeded by passport and visa regulations unless their visit was of a few hours' duration only. That was taken by many Americans and other visitors as the measure of Britain's welcome. Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, Norway and other countries had abolished the visa, said Mr. Canty. Insisting that industry depended on international trade, he said: "This ship is the measure of our faith in the future and in our Government, and in building it we had an exceptional source of encouragement in the voting trustees, Sir William McClintock and General Sir Arthur Maxwell, who were as our sheet anchor." Mr. Canty added that the banks in the country were the foundation of industry, and in these days of unparalleled depression, the fact that they had maintained their stability and strength unimpaired was a national asset to struggling industries.

Mr. Canty gave special greeting to Mr. H. M. Pollock, Northern Minister of Finance, who, with his Northern colleagues, must, he said, feel a great sense of pride and satisfaction in this latest product of the famous Belfast yard of Harland and Wolff.

The Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Alderman J. C. Cross, and Mr. William Gourlay, American Express Co., replied.

"CHEAP MONEY" PERIL.

Sir Arthur Maxwell, proposing "Success to the Georgic," said that the country was hearing a lot about cheap cruising and manipulated currency, but none of the people who talked about these matters were able to tell where cheap money was to come from. Experience, however, showed that cheap money, when we could not get it, was worse for trade and prosperity. The real thing wanted was for all of us to be able to have a little of dearer money, rather than more cheap money.

"What we have been suffering from since the War," said Sir Arthur, "is a surfeit of politics, coupled with so-called democracy, and the policy of making the weak a little stronger by making the strong weaker."

Restoration of confidence was what the country needed, he added, and restoration meant courage, which in the essence meant sacrifices. "We have made sacrifices," he said, "and now we must see that the other countries make sacrifices also. Our weakness has been the terrible weakness of compromise, and has been our curse for the last fourteen years."

After paying tribute to the builders Sir Arthur went on to say that the only note of regret was that Messrs. Harland and Wolff had not got another ship on the stocks at the moment.

Mr. Frank Charlton, a director of the White Star Line, replying, said that Messrs. Harland and Wolff had been building ships for the Line since 1870, and during that time had built almost eighty ships for them.

Mr. F. E. Rebbeck, chairman of Messrs. Harland and Wolff, also replying, said that while the Georgic represented everything of the latest design, they were already searching for improvements which might be made in the latest ships. He paid warm tribute to the men who had stood by the firm on work on the Georgic, and so helped to bring down costs in these days, when economy was one of the essentials in competitive production. He added that special recognition was due to Mr. John Morrison, Mr. Atholl Blair, Mr. Imrie, Mr. F. Dunlop, Mr. D. Galloway, Mr. A. Wharton and Mr. T. C. Tobin, designers and builders of the many vastly different portions of the great vessel. The Georgic was a great tribute to these men, he added, and it was a magnificent testimonial to their work that on her trials last week, from the time she left Belfast docks until the conclusion of cruising in various waters, not once had it been necessary to stop, reverse, or for a single switch to be pulled to obtain the premeditated programme.

The Georgic arrived at Liverpool this afternoon, where crowds greeted her at the landing stage.

RELIGION IN THE EAST.

GROWTH OF MOHAMMEDANISM

An interesting address on religion in the East was given by Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, F.R.G.S., at a United Missionary meeting at 35 Molesworth street, Dublin, last night. Mr. Charles E. Jacob presided.

Dr. Zwemer said it was not easy to give a balanced judgment regarding the strength or weakness, the worth or failure, of any great intellectual or spiritual movement in human history. The Mohammedan religion was never so large, so friendly, or responsive to the gospel of Christ as it was to-day. It was to be found in many lands. Mohammedan newspapers were printed in London. During the past twenty or thirty years Mohammedans had increased in India by over 10,000,000. In Africa there were now 49,000,000, in Europe 3,500,000, in India 77,000,000. Altogether in the world there were over 240,000,000, or one-seventh of the human race.

Mohammedans were restless and discontented, and this was a good sign, said Dr. Zwemer. Morocco had changed more in the past twenty years than it had done in the previous five hundred. Arabia had changed similarly, and for the same reasons. Mohammedan women were trying to win the rights that were enjoyed by European women.

Another point was the attitude of Mohammedans towards Christianity. He could say that they were never so jealous of Christians as when they saw their own Christian bankruptcy. They hated to see that Christ was what Mohammed was not. When Christian universities or hospitals were built in the East Mohammedans started in opposition in the same district. This was the dark side of the picture; but there was the other side. All across the map a new world was beginning, and Bibles in the Mohammedan language were selling by the hundred thousand.

SWEDISH UNEMPLOYED RIOT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
STOCKHOLM, Monday.

There were skirmishes in the streets here this evening between mounted police and a demonstration of unemployed, who attempted to approach the Town Hall, where the Municipal Council was in session.

PRESTIGE OF THE LEAGUE.

VITAL TO UPHOLD IT.

POSITION OF POST-WAR LOAN HOLDERS.

BRITISH INTERESTS TO BE PROTECTED.

A POWERFUL committee has been formed to provide an organisation to protect in case of need the interests of British bondholders of the several League of Nations loans.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, Viscount Goschen, Mr. A. Jamieson, Mr. C. Lubbock, Sir Otto Niemeyer and Sir Arthur Salter have signified their willingness to serve on the committee.

The committee has been set up by the Governor of the Bank of England, in agreement with the banking houses which issued the loans on the London market, and with the concurrence of the British trustees appointed under the general bonds of these loans.

Considerable significance attaches to this move.

In the years immediately following the War it was the policy of the Government to co-operate with the League in an endeavour to restore financial and economic stability in the war-stricken areas of Europe.

MORAL RESPONSIBILITY.

Loans were issued under the auspices of the League, and large portions were floated in London with the approval both of the Government and of the Bank of England.

The first of these League loans, that made to Austria, was in part guaranteed by the British Government, in conjunction with other Governments, and the London portion was issued under the auspices of the Bank of England.

The authorities still believe that the League must be the most formidable instrument for working out the recovery of Europe, and they, therefore, regard it as a vital matter to uphold the prestige of the League, and to do all that can be done to conserve the interests of those who have invested in the loans issued under the League's auspices.

The appointment of the committee may be regarded also as the recognition of a moral, though not, of course, a legal responsibility.

STRONG PERSONNEL.

It will be observed that the personnel of the committee is exceptionally strong. The Chairman, Sir Austen Chamberlain, was, as Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, responsible for the Government's European policy during the year in which the League loans were raised.

Sir Arthur Salter, who recently resigned from the position of Director of the Economic and Financial Section of the League, has an unrivalled knowledge and experience of European reconstruction work.

Sir Otto Niemeyer is a member of the Finance Committee of the League and a director of the Bank for International Settlements, and has had long and close experience of the financial problems of the debtor States.

Mr. Lubbock is a director of the Bank of England.

Viscount Gorchen, who represents the joint stock banks on the committee, is a director of the Westminster Bank, Ltd.; the Ottoman Bank, and the Bank of Rumania, Ltd.

Mr. A. Jamieson, of the firm of Robert Fleming and Co., represents the investing public.

The committee is strong both in experience and in prestige, and it is felt in City quarters that it may be entrusted to bear in mind the rights and interests of the bondholders without forgetting the necessities and difficulties arising from the present position of the debtor States.

A REPUBLIC FOR SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW M.P.s DESIRE.

Mr. McGovern has made it known to-night, says the Central News Lobby Correspondent, in a telegram last night, that on Wednesday he will ask leave under the ten minutes rule to introduce legislation to set up a republic in Scotland, not merely a separate Parliament, but a republic, with a president, who would be elected every three years.

The member for Shettleston has no sort of success in his legislative ventures, but if he persists he will get in a ten minutes speech.

DROWNING BATHERS RESCUED.

EXCITING SCENE IN COUNTY DERRY.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
DERRY, Monday Night.

News reached Derry to-night of the thrilling rescue of two Belfast women holiday-makers at Castlerock yesterday evening by a young Derry man, William Doherty, and a girl bather on holiday at the place.

Attention was attracted by cries for help from the bathers, who were in difficulties. One was washed on the rocks and was later assisted to safety by the rescuers, who afterwards battled against great waves to effect the rescue of the other woman, who was clinging to a buoy which marks the danger line.

The rescuers were very severely bruised and cut all over the body. They were dashed against the rocks several times and pitched about by the heavy sea, which was at full tide. First-aid treatment was rendered by residents living near by.

A large crowd witnessed the rescues.

CONGRESS TO DEBATE WAR VETERANS' DEMANDS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
WASHINGTON, Monday.

The House to-day voted that the Veterans' Bonus Bill should be considered by it.

[NOTE.—Ten thousand war "veterans" have already marched to Washington to demand the immediate cashing of their bonus certificates, and thousands more are converging on the capital.]

THE FINANCE BILL.

CIRCULATED IN DAIL TO-DAY.

QUESTION ABOUT LAND ANNUITIES.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

Members of the Dail will receive the text of the Finance Bill to-day, but it is unlikely that its discussion will be taken up before to-morrow. It will probably be the largest Finance Bill ever put before the Dail, inasmuch as it will include, among other things, the particulars concerning all the forty-three new tariffs mentioned in the Budget.

Other bills on the Order Paper include the Dublin and Blessington Steam Tramway Bill (Report stage), Old-Age Pensions Bill (Report stage), Control of Manufactures Bill, Diseases of Animals Bill, and Estimates.

ANNUITIES AND DE-RATING.

At question time Mr. Jasper Wolfe will ask the President if he is in a position to state how it is proposed to apply the land annuities, due on 1st June, 1932, and now in course of collection, and if he will state the date from which the complete de-rating of agricultural land in Saorstat Eireann will commence.

POSITION OF THE FARMERS.

Mr. Frank McDermot will ask the Minister for Agriculture whether he is aware that the financial position of the farmers throughout the country is very bad and rapidly getting worse, and whether he has under consideration any emergency measures for saving the industry.

THE MISSION TO OTTAWA.

"WASTE OF PUBLIC MONEY."

At a meeting at Clonegal on Saturday Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald, the principal speaker, was subjected to a constant barrage of questions, and could at times only make himself heard with the greatest difficulty.

Mr. Fitzgerald said that all the Government had done so far to fulfil election promises was to impose a series of suicidal tariffs which were likely to deprive us of the market where we sell 90 per cent. of our produce.

President de Valera considered the Oath degrading, and it had to go. The Oath was an expression of the allegiance every citizen was in duty bound to give the established order, and as such was valuable as a test of an elected deputy's intentions.

Referring to the Ottawa Conference, Mr. FitzGerald said that since the London negotiations had broken down the only business remaining for the Irish delegation was to try to sell butter to Australia or cattle to Canada —a wholly impossible feat. The Irish people should protest against the unnecessary waste of public money in paying their fares to Canada on such a ridiculous mission.

The Land Annuities were due on the 15th of this month, and if they were not paid Britain was not going to be at any loss. She also had a system of tariffs now, and could very easily erect a tariff barrier against Irish produce.

SIDELIGHT ON SALARIES.

When questioned as to his salary last year, Mr. FitzGerald said that his nominal salary of £1,700 actually represented less of the nation's money than the £1,000 of Ministers to-day. He had to pay income tax, which amounted to £300 per annum, and had to provide and furnish a house and pay for the upkeep of his cars. The present Ministers were free of income tax; they also managed to have their cars and drivers provided for in the Army Estimates. A very elaborate suite of rooms had been provided and equipped at the public expense for the President in Government Buildings. After a record of public service extending over 16 years the only bank balance he could boast of was an overdraft.

RECEPTION OF THE LEGATE.

THE ADDRESS FROM THE CORPORATION.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin, accompanied by several Councillors, made a visit yesterday to the new boundary of Greater Dublin, and inspected the place at Merrion where he and the members of the Dublin Corporation will receive His Eminence Cardinal Lauri on his arrival from Dun Laoghaire on Monday, the 20th inst.

The entrance to the city at Merrion has been marked by the erection of a facsimile of an old Norman gateway. There will be a platform from which the Lord Mayor and members of the Corporation, in their robes of office, will make an address of welcome to the Papal Legate.

The Lord Mayor, accompanied by his Chaplain, the Rev. Joseph MacArdle, will make the journey from the Mansion House in the old "gold coach," which was built for a Lord Mayor of Dublin 200 years ago. The coach will be drawn by six horses, with postillions garbed in old-time uniforms, while in the box seat willbe a coachman in the dress that was worn when Daniel O'Connell, as Lord Mayor, used the same coach.

At Merrion the Lord Mayor will read an address of welcome, which will be presented to the Papal Legate, written in Irish, Latin and English. After this ceremony Cardinal Lauri will proceed to the Pro-Cathedral, Dublin.

At the conclusion of Congress week the Lord Mayor of Dublin will give a farewell reception at the Mansion House to the Papal Legate. Elaborate arrangements are being made to meet the needs of the occasion. The furnishing of the Mansion House, which for the past eighteen months has been destitute of furniture, are being hurried forward in order that the house may be ready for the function.

The Lord Mayor has made arrangements to entertain his guests by disposing the whole of the Mansion House premises at their service. The gardens are to be illuminated, and three bands have been engaged to provide music—the No. 1 Army Band, the Civic Guard Band, and the Artane Band.

DEATH OF EX-MODERATOR.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
OTTAWA, Monday.

The death is announced of the Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, Principal of Emanuel College, a United Church institution affiliated to Toronto University.

Dr. Gandier was at one time Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada.

AS IN THE WAR YEARS.

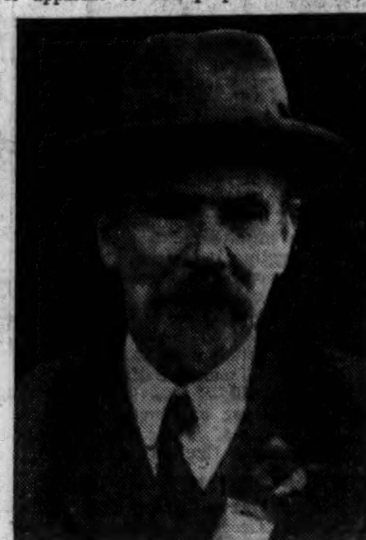

PLOTS OF LAND FOR WORKERS.

The advantages of plotholding for industrial workers were set out in an interesting paper read by Mr. Thomas Shaw, president of the United Irish Plotholders' Union, before the Dublin Rotary Club yesterday in Clery's Restaurant.

"Plotholding," said Mr. Shaw, "or the intensive cultivation of small allotments of land, usually one-eighth of an acre, by workingmen in their spare time for the production of potatoes and other vegetables for the food and sustenance of their families, although for many years enjoying the support and encouragement of practically every Government in Europe, is still, unfortunately, regarded in Ireland as having little or no bearing on the economic conditions of the country."

The beginning of plotholding in Ireland, Mr. Shaw stated, could be traced to the ancient feudal or clan system, as might still be seen in the names and titles of our old Irish families. Under that system every family was obliged to produce from the land allotted to it a certain quantity of food for the fighting men, and for tributes paid to other chiefs.

The allotment movement as known to the present generation had its origin in the menace of starvation with which these islands were faced during the terrible war period, 1914 to 1918. Here in Dublin, through the instrumentality of a lady (Miss S. C. Harrison) the idea of cultivating the waste dumping grounds and derelict sites around our city was introduced, and a branch of the Vacant Lands' Cultivation Society was formed. This branch, for which she laboured incessantly in the interests of the workers of Dublin, continued to function until the foundation of the United Irish Plotholders' Union in 1916. The fear of actual starvation which went through these islands at that time, when the German submarines were patrolling our coasts and sinking our merchant ships, made it apparent to the people of Ireland, as well as those of Great Britain, that they would have to grow their own food or starve. Back to the land was the slogan, and thousands of willing, if inexperienced, cultivators were to be seen in the newly-formed allotments adjoining every town.

GOVERNMENT'S OPPORTUNITY.

"I feel confident," said Mr. Shaw, "that our Government will not be slow in recognising the importance of an asset of such value in time of need. The generous recognition of plotholding by the League of Nations, as evidenced by the recommendation issued to all the Governments to encourage and support it, will, I feel sure, find a responsive chord here, as in all other countries, as soon as the more weighty problems incidental to the stabilising of the nation have been satisfactorily adjusted. During the war period we had over 31,000 plotholders, and, although no money value was placed on the produce, it was known that in the aggregate at least 30,000 tons of potatoes were produced, in addition to large supplies of all other vegetables in ordinary use in the home."

Mr. Shaw went on to say that it was the duty of those who were responsible for town or regional planning to provide for a zone of allotments on the outskirts of the area proposed to be built on, or, better still, to arrange the plan so that each worker's cottage should stand on its own eighth of an acre. In no city in Europe, he said, were the working population more completely submerged than in Dublin. There must be something wrong with the civilisation which compelled its best asset—its industrial population—to herd together in rotten rookeries, and subsist on a dietary of bread and tea, and very often not enough of that.

On the motion of Mr. Denis Hegarty, seconded by Mr. Wm. Brown, a vote of thanks was given to Mr. Shaw.

Mr. Kevin J. Kenny presided.

CARDINAL BOURNE IN DUBLIN.

ARRIVAL AT DUN LAOGHAIRE.

Cardinal Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, accompanied by his secretary, the Right Rev. Monsignor Coote, arrived by yesterday evening's mail boat at Dun Laoghaire. He was received by Mr. J. P. Walsh, Secretary to the Department for External Affairs, on behalf of President de Valera; by Mr. D. Barrett, a member of the executive committee of the Eucharistic Congress, in the unavoidable absence of Mr. F. O'Reilly, organising secretary; Mr. S. F. Scroope, National Bank, Rathmines, Mrs. Scroope, and Captain Cassedy, harbour master, Dun Laoghaire.

The Cardinal will be the guest of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, M-t Anville, Dundrum, for a day or two, and will then proceed to Galway for a brief holiday, returning to Dublin in time for the Congress ceremonies.

His Eminence posed for a group which included the Right Rev. Alex. Chulaprambel, Bishop of Kottayam, Travancore, India, and the Rev. M. Chaccinat, Ph.D., D.D., who also arrived to attend the Congress.

Other arrivals included the Most Rev. Dr. Dellale, O.M.I., Vicar Apostolic, Natal; the Very Rev. Dr. Moran, Assistant General, Marist Fathers in Rome, who is a native of Dublin and an ex-President of the Catholic University School, Dublin, and twice Provincial of the North of England and Ireland Provinces of the Order.

OBITUARY.

MR. W. A. ATTENBOROUGH.

Mr. Walter Annis Attenborough, who in 1910 sat as Conservative M.P. for Bedford for ten months, died at his residence, Holbrook, Bedford, yesterday, aged eighty-one, after a short illness. Mr. Attenborough had been a barrister since 1874, and practised on the Midland Circuit. From 1921 to 1925 he was Deputy and Assistant Recorder of Birmingham.

MR. LEONARD SUTTON.

The death took place suddenly yesterday at Reading of Mr. Leonard Sutton, chairman of Sutton and Sons, the seed merchants. He was in his sixty-ninth year. He was vice-president and past president of the Royal Counties Agricultural Society, a member of the Royal Agricultural Society of England for nearly forty years, a Governor since 1926. In that year, as Mayor of Reading, he received the King and Queen on the occasion of their visit to the Royal Show. He was vice-president of the Royal Horticultural Society and president of the University of Reading Education Committee. He was three times Mayor of Reading, and two years ago was made a freeman of the borough. In 1920 he was made C.B.E. During the war four of his five sons were killed in action.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT.

DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF AN EYE.

£300 FOR DUBLIN BOY.

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

A claim for £300 damages for the loss of his right eye was made by Leo Patrick Mulvany (7) through his father, William Mulvany, of 26 Upper Clanbrassil street, Dublin, against Charles Searson, of 33 Richmond street, Dublin, whose motor car struck the boy on 17th April of last year.

Mr. Arthur Corbett (instructed by Messrs. W. G. Bradley and Sons) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Charles Campbell (instructed by Messrs. Molloy and Fayle) for the defendant.

The case for the plaintiff was that Leo Mulvany was returning home from Church with his two brothers. They stopped outside a confectionery shop in Harold's Cross road before crossing the road, and they had just gone about four or five paces from the curb when a motor car came up, and the handle of the car struck Leo in the right eye, which had to be removed a few days later. It was alleged that there was no horn sounded by the driver of the motor car.

It was contended by counsel for the driver that the boys, who were holding each other's hands, stood on the road inviting the car to come on. The car came up slowly, and when opposite them Leo Mulvany jerked forward, and the unfortunate accident happened. It was alleged that there was no evidence of negligence at all on the part of the driver.

Judge Davitt awarded the plaintiff £300 compensation.

LIBEL ACTION FAILS.

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON.)

A claim for damages for libel was made by Maura Merriman, a married woman, of 42 St. Lawrence road, Clontarf, Dublin, against the Irish Hospitals' Trust, Ltd., 15 Earlsfort terrace, Dublin.

Mr. Basil McGuckin (instructed by Mr. Herman Good) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Lavery, K.C., with Mr. Nolan-Whelan (instructed by Mr. Philip O'Reilly) appeared for the Hospitals' Trust.

Mr. McGuckin said that there was a rather peculiar set of facts and circumstances in respect of the action. Mrs. Merriman, in the month of May, went to Earlsfort terrace through the introduction of a friend for the purpose of being employed by the Trust. She presented her credentials, and was told to go to Mr. Sauren. She was unable to see him, but was engaged, and told to report at the Plaza. On the following day she took up work there, and after about ten minutes she was told that Mr. Sauren wanted to speak to her. She saw Mr. Sauren, who told her it was the result of a mistake that she was employed, and she was told to go. She was indignant, and went to Earlsfort terrace and made inquiries, and as a result the letter which formed the subject-matter of the action, dated 12th May, 1932, was sent by Mr. J. Sauren on behalf of the Trust. It was stated in the course of the letter: "I am to state that as the result of a report from the police authorities about you, Mr. McGrath is unable to give you employment."

"We suggest," said Mr. McGuckin, "that that is a libel on the character of Mrs. Merriman. We are told that there was no report, and I suggest that it would be out of order for the police to put in any report about this lady."

Counsel added that publication occurred when the letter in question was seen by Miss Rita Reid, an employé of the Trust.

Mrs. Merriman, in evidence, bore out her counsel's statement. She admitted that a charge had been made against her in 1929.

Miss Rita Reid, Mr. Sauren's assistant, said she had never seen the letter which was the subject of the action.

Judge Shannon dismissed the case on the grounds that the publication had not been proved.

FIRE IN DUBLIN STORE.

A number of flitches of bacon were destroyed by a fire which broke out in a storehouse in Moore lane, Dublin, owned by Mr. Edward O'Rourke, of Tullamore, shortly after 11 o'clock last night.

Two sections of the Dublin Fire Brigade from the Central Station answered the alarm call, and, after half an hour's work, subdued the flames, which apparently started in the roof of the building. Boxes of shoes in the adjacent store of the Standard Shoe Company were soaked with water, but untouched by the fire. The cause of the outbreak is unknown.

"TECHNIQUE OF REVOLUTION."

DUBLIN AUTHOR'S DENIALS.

LIBEL ACTION AT HEARING.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA AND A JURY.)

The hearing of the action of Mr. Peadar O'Donnell, author and novelist, of 39 Marlborough road, Dublin, against the Very Rev. H. V. Casey, O.P., St. Saviour's Priory, Dominick street, Dublin, editor of the Irish Rosary, and Messrs. Alex. Thom and Company, Ltd., printers, Dublin, was begun. The plaintiff claims damages for libel stated to have been published in the Irish Rosary of April, 1932, in an article headed "A Dhia Saor Eire." In the article it was stated:—

"The present directors of Saor Eire include Peadar O'Donnell, who was sent in 1929 with six students to the Lenin College in Moscow to study the technique of revolution. The description of Saor Eire given in the Dail on October 14, 1931, as 'simply an organisation for setting up in this country a State on the lines of the Russian Soviet Republic' has never been contradicted. Such an aim manifestly includes the setting up of an anti-God State."

THE DEFENCE.

In their defence, Messrs. Alex. Thom and Company, Ltd., stated that the words complained of were printed by them in the ordinary course of their business as printers without malice. The words complained of were no libel upon the plaintiff. The plaintiff had not suffered damage or injury in his reputation or in his calling, as alleged, or any damage or injury.

The defence of the Very Rev. Henry Vincent Casey, O.P., editor of the Irish Rosary, was in similar terms.

Mr. Lynch, K.C., Mr. Joseph O'Connor, K.C., and Mr. Alex. Lynn (instructed by Messrs. Kennedy and McGonagle) appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Denning, K.C., Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Messrs. William Fry and Sons) for Messrs. Alex. Thom and Company, Ltd.; and Mr. Fitzgerald, K.C., Mr. Finlay, K.C., and Mr. Charles Casey (instructed by Messrs. Cartan O'Meara and Kieran) for the Very Rev. Henry Vincent Casey, O.P.

NEVER IN RUSSIA.

Opening on behalf of the plaintiff, Mr. Lynch, K.C., said that the plaintiff had stated that he was never in Russia, and in the circumstances he had no alternative but to bring his action. Counsel then referred to the early years of plaintiff's career, and said that he associated himself with the struggle in this country, and it might, in fact, be said that he gave up everything for the sake of others. He had a world-wide reputation as a writer.

The plaintiff was then called, and, examined by Mr. O'Connor, said that he was in the Four Courts when that building was captured, and after being twenty-one months in prison he escaped from the Curragh.

Mr. O'Connor—Did you do some literary work while in prison?—Yes, I wrote "Storm," and smuggled it out while in prison. A friendly British officer took out the manuscript.

Questioned about getting in touch with two men who wanted to start a Communist party in Dublin, the plaintiff said that he met two men named Bell and Ward, but became suspicious of them, and, thinking that Ward was an ex-British officer, withdrew from them.

SAOR EIRE.

Having stated that he was a member of the Committee of "Saor Eire," the plaintiff was asked whether there was any truth in the suggestion that "Saor Eire" was working as a kind of dependency on the Soviet Government, and replied that it was "a very contemptible lie."

Cross-examined by Mr. Fitzgerald, he said that he was not a controller of An Phoblacht, but had been a contributor to it. He was never reported for teaching blasphemy in his school. It was his belief that all powers of production should be in the hands of the workers.

Questioned about his letter to Cardinal MacRory, the plaintiff said that he wanted to prevent the recruiting of Irishmen for a war that was developing against the Soviet Union. In 1922 he was opposed to Cardinal MacRory on the facts of the Irish situation.

"A HEATED ARGUMENT."

Mr. Fitzgerald—Did you tell Hugh Allen that the mistake your party made was that every one of the Catholic bishops was not shot, from, as you say, "Mickey" Logue to Dr. Kelly of Ross? If Hugh Allen says I did, I will not contradict it. I had a heated argument with him, and I do not remember everything I said.

The witness was cross-examined on matters appearing in some of his books, and asked whether his photograph had not appeared in every Communist paper, he replied that he did not know. There was no truth, he said, in the suggestion that "Bob" Stewart, described as the leading English Communist, helped him to organise peasant committees in Ireland. It was against his wishes that he presided on the first day of the Peasants' Congress in Berlin.

Mr. Fitzgerald—Do you not know that "Saor Eire" has been condemned by the Catholic bishops of Ireland, and in spite of that you still preached it?—I did.

It was also prohibited as a crime against the State to belong to that organisation?—It was.

And you carried on?—I did.

Asked whether he had written an article in An Phoblacht in which he called a parish priest mentioned in it a "shoneen" and a "toady," he answered "Yes."

Mr. Fitzgerald—And then you think you are greatly vilified when you are called a Communist?—I think it very vicious to attack people on religious grounds.

In further cross-examination the witness denied that he was a member of "The Friends of Soviet Russia."

SMALL FARMERS' ORGANISATION.

In the course of replies to further questions, witness referred to his association with Saor Eire and the small farmers' organisation, and, answering Mr. Justice Hanna, said that in connection with the Irish working farmers' organisation he had not, directly or indirectly, received support from Russia.

Mr. Justice Hanna—Did Saor Eire get financial support, directly or indirectly, from Russia?

The witness—Absolutely none. It got a grant from the I.R.A. to start.

Having been asked by counsel why he objected to the conclusions drawn by the bishops in their Pastoral of last October, the witness said that the bishops were wrong in their facts, and that they were to be fought politically when they got into politics.

Mr. Fitzgerald—You were one of the people responsible for costing the country £1,000,000 due to your action in this very building?—I was not. The fire started from outside.

"We did not," he said later, "blow it up. The people you supported blew it up."

In trying to get you out? (Laughter)—To roast us out.

The cross-examination of the plaintiff had not concluded when the court adjourned until to-day.

COLLISION IN DUBLIN.

TWO MEN IN HOSPITAL.

Two men were seriously injured in a head-on collision between a motor cycle and a motor car at the junction of Griffith avenue and Philipsburgh avenue, Fairview, yesterday afternoon. The motor cyclist, Edward Moore, of 18 Audeon's terrace, Dublin, and the driver of the motor car, Edward Kinshaw, 25 Ballybough road, Dublin, were both removed to the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital, where, on inquiry this morning, an Irish Times reporter was informed that they were progressing favourably.

Father Corcoran, of Galway, who was a passenger in the motor car, escaped uninjured.

METHODIST CHURCH.

STATIONS OF MINISTERS.

The Ministerial Session of the Conference of the Methodist Church in Ireland concluded its sessions yesterday, and, after consideration, appointed the following as the Stations of the Ministers for the coming year:—

LINERS FOR DUBLIN.

The s.s. Lapland will arrive with visitors for the Eucharistic Congress on the 21st inst. Her passengers will be disembarked in Dublin and the liner will lie to anchor in Scotsman's Bay during the Congress. The s.s. Samaria and Saturnia will arrive on the following day, and the s.s. Laconia on the 25th inst. After the Congress the latter vessel will take 500 visitors direct to the United States. These four vessels are trans-Atlantic liners, and will bring some thousands of visitors to Dublin.

FUNERAL OF CANON SOMERVILLE

The funeral of the late Rev. Canon Somerville took place from his residence, Sydney House, Blackrock, County Dublin, yesterday morning for Dean's Grange Cemetery.

The Ven. the Archdeacon of Dublin and the Rev. Canon Harvey, Booterstown, were the officiating clergymen.

The chief mourners were Mr. J. M. Symes (brother-in-law), and Messrs. Glascott M. Symes and Lionel G. M. Symes (nephews).

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK LACKING IN ENCOURAGEMENT: HEAVY CLOSE.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.
NEW YORK, Monday.

The opening trend of the Stock Exchange was easy. The growing belief that Congress will adjourn without passing any disturbing legislation had a favourable influence on sentiment, but, with the business outlook so lacking in encouragement, a somewhat hesitant market was anticipated. Steel activity in the Youngstown area is now expected to improve slightly, due to increased operations by the Carnegie Corporation.

Further squeezing of shorts in Speciality shares led to some improvement after the lower opening, but the pivotal issues tended to relapse again in dull trading, with losses of fractions to a point being common.

In the early afternoon many issues declined 1 to 2 points. Traders displayed a hesitant aspect, and were inclined to await developments in view of the Administration's request for further economies. Moreover, the questions of a bonus to ex-soldiers and general relief remain unsettled, while the approach of the Lausanne Conference tends to create caution.

The week end business reports provided no incentive this morning, though some lines—such as Tyres and Oil—are experiencing a little improvement prior to the enforcement of the new Excise taxes.

Western Union Telegraph was heavy in tone to-day in anticipation of an adverse dividend action to-morrow. The market closed heavy.

GOLD MOVEMENTS.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York in its daily report on the movements of gold announces the following:—Exports to Switzerland, $6,001,000. Ear-marked for foreign account shows a decrease of $6,000,000.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Monday.

On the grain market to-day values were depressed owing to a lack of buying power, together with scattered liquidation. Export interest was disappointing, while advices of favourable weather conditions and the easier tone of the Stock market were other bearish factors. Wheat declined on reports of beneficial rains in the South-West area and owing to cash and foreign interests selling. Trading was of a light and nervous character. Maize prices eased owing to increased cash offerings and on the excellent outlook for the crops. The market also moved lower in sympathy with wheat, but subsequently rallied partially on selling of wheat against purchases of maize. Rye declined in sympathy with wheat and owing to the slow export business, while oats were influenced by the movements in maize.

MAIZE opened steady, 1/8c. to 1/4c. lower, and closed easy, 1 1/4c. to 1 1/8c. down.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

MAN CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTED MURDER.

ALLEGED FEUD BETWEEN FAMILIES.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE O'BYRNE.)

A young man named Michael Halloran, Co. Clare, was charged with shooting at William Halloran at Ballinruan, Co. Clare, on April 2nd, with intend to murder him. There were othe rcounts for shooting with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, wounding and having a firearm without a permit.

Mr. Martin Maguire, K.C., and Mr. Kevin Haugh (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted.

Mr. O. Moriarty (instructed by Mr. L. T. McCarthy) defended.

Mr. Maguire said that the injured man, William Halloran, was a cousin of the accused man. He was going to his home at Carrigeeny Bog on April 2, about 7.30, when he observed the accused man approaching him. When the prisoner got within forty-five yards of him he raised a gun at him, literally peppering him with pellets from his right shoulder down to the knee.

William Halloran, aged 18, stated that he lived with his father at Carheenybawn, near Clare, Galway border. About eighteen months ago his father purchased another farm at Ballinruane. He was proceeding to the latter farm at 7.30 on the evening of April 2nd, when he saw Michael in the field near him. He had not been on friendly terms with his cousin since the purchase of the Ballinruane farm, which formerly belonged to Michael's mother.

Witness then described how he was shot, and said that he had no doubt that the man who fired at him was the prisoner.

Mrs. Mary Halloran, mother of the wounded youth, stated that her family and that of the accused man had not been on speaking terms from the time her husband bought the farm at Ballinruane.

Dr. J. J. Marlborough, Gort, told the Court that he extracted 27 pellets from the body of William Halloran.

Sergeant Martin Moran, Crusheen, gave evidence that when arrested and charged with attempted murder the accused man said nothing.

Detective Officer Hanly stated that after several days search he found a single-barrelled breech loading shot gun concealed under a butt of hay 500 yards from the scene of the shooting. A discharged cartridge case was jammed in the breech. The identification numbers of the gun had been filed off.

This closed the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Justice O'Byrne directed the jury to find the prisoner not guilty of having a firearm in his possession without a certificate.

Mr. Moriarty said that the case for the defence was that the prisoner did not fire the shot or shots which wounded William Halloran. At the time of the alleged shooting the prisoner was in the house of a neighbour named Thomas Lynch.

Michael Halloran, the prisoner, on oath denied that he shot at William Halloran, or that any time in his life he had a gun, or ever fired a shot.

Witness said that he was in Tom Lynch's house on April 2nd, from 7.30 to 10 p.m. He denied having threatened William Halloran at any time.

At this stage the hearing was adjourned until this morning.

PRISONER BOUND OVER.

Walter Burke, who was found guilty of the manslaughter of Martin Doherty in Co. Mayo, on 9th April, was bound over for a period of five years.

Mr. Justice O'Byrne said that he took an unusual course in this case owing to the fact that the crime was unpremeditated, that the prisoner had hitherto borne an excellent character, and that he was not in good health.

The prisoner was then discharged.

TRAMWAY ACCIDENT.

ACTION AGAINST COMPANY FAILS.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN AND A JURY.)

The hearing was concluded of the case in which Mary Dunne, 25 West terrace, Inchicore, Dublin, a laundry worker, claimed damages from the Dublin United Tramways Company in respect of an accident on September 21, 1930, when a tram-car collided with her and her companion, Miss Mary McMahon, when they were crossing the tramlines at or near Conyngham road. Miss McMahon was killed, and the plaintiff sustained serious injuries and loss.

The jury found that the tram driver was not guilty of negligence, and judgment was entered for the defendant company.

Mr. Hubert Hamilton, K.C., and Mr. Casey (instructed by Mr. A. Lane Joynt) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Joseph O'Connor, K.C., and Mr. J. P. Murnane (instructed by Messrs. Casey, Clay and Collins) for the defendant company.

White Gloves.—Judge Kenny was presented with white gloves yesterday at Cork Circuit Court. The judge congratulated the city on its peaceful state.

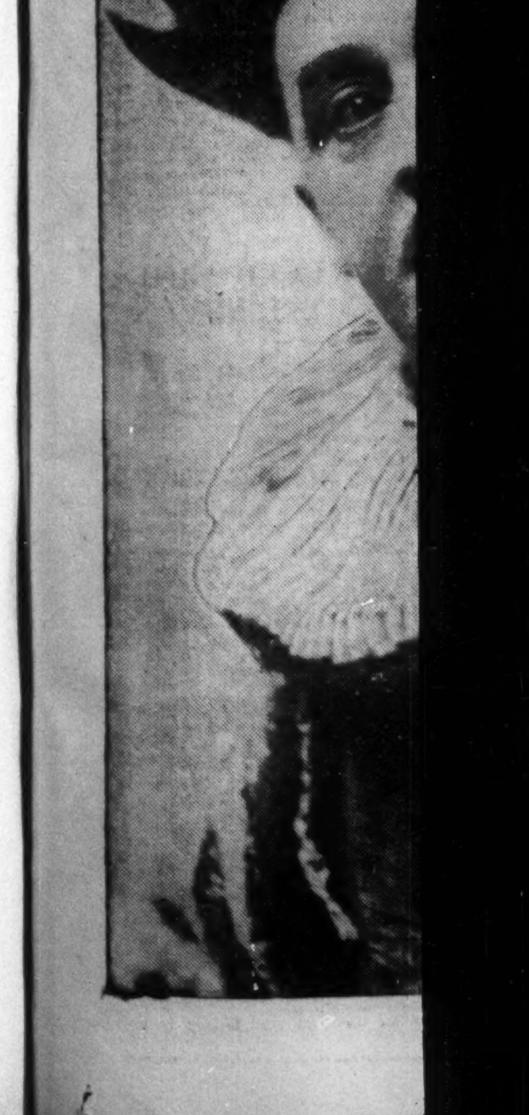

CHRONIC INDIGESTION CURED!
Read this letter from a Doctor's Son
"My wife suffered considerably with chronic indigestion after undergoing several surgical operations in the abdominal region. Various prescriptions and the majority of advertised remedies were tried, but to no purpose. My wife was recommended to try a course of 'Bisurated' Magnesia by a lady in the same hospital as herself, and the tablets have completely cured her." —J. C., Anglesey.
For quick, sure relief from indigestion there's nothing to compare with 'Bisurated' Magnesia because it instantly neutralises the excess stomach acid which is invariably the cause of the trouble. 'Bisurated' Magnesia enables you to eat what you like without fear of discomfort and get full nourishment from everything you eat. Not one or two, but thousands of doctors all over the world use and recommend this proven stomach remedy.

"Poor blood causes NERVES"

Headaches, "jumpiness," shooting pains . . . NEURALGIA. These are danger signals! Your nerves are crying out for better blood.

It is no good blaming the weather or time of the year—POOR BLOOD is the cause of all your trying ailments. What you need is a course of Hall's Wine—the best bloodmaking tonic you can get.

Hall's Wine goes right to the root of your trouble. It has the natural iron and vitamins of the grape and other valuable medicaments that make your blood healthy and active and soothe your frayed nerves. You can quickly see the difference Hall's Wine makes. People begin to say, "How well you look!" They envy you your energy and good spirits.

Isn't it wonderful to feel like that? To work without getting easily fagged—to sleep sounder—to say good-bye to nervous headaches once and for all. Enrich your blood with Hall's Wine. That is the secret of summer health. Hall's Wine puts sunshine in your blood—makes you happy and active. Get a bottle of Hall's Wine to-day.

Mrs. B. Roper, 12 Granville Road, Upper Parkstone, Dorset, writes:

"I have found your wine does me more good than anything else. I am suffering from a strained heart through over-work. I tell all my friends I believe Hall's Wine has saved my life."

The most effective tooth paste is also the softest

Some tooth pastes clean but scratch. Others are safe but not effective. Pepsodent is first in both effectiveness and safety

The Pepsodent Laboratories announce a revolutionary discovery—contained in Pepsodent Tooth Paste. It possesses three unique virtues.

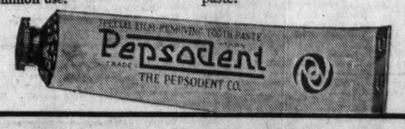

1. The new cleansing and polishing material in Pepsodent stands unsurpassed in removing stained, destructive FILM.
2. The new texture is invisibly fine. As a result it imparts a higher polish to enamel—a brilliant glaze or lustre.
3. The new material is safe. This is most important of all. Safe because it's soft—yes, twice as soft—as polishing materials in common use.

Removing FILM is Pepsodent's chief duty. Today's Pepsodent performs that duty better than any tooth paste ever has before.

Fight Film

FILM is that slippery coating on your teeth. It gathers germs that may cause decay . . . absorbs stains from food and smoking and makes teeth unattractive. Removing FILM is important for beauty and health.

Get a tube of Pepsodent today. It is today's outstanding scientific tooth paste.

ASCOT OPENS.

COASTER FOR PREFERENCE IN THE "STAKES" TO-DAY.

THE racing journalist annually exhausts his vocabulary of superlatives attempting to describe Ascot. There is no meeting in the world like it, and for the next four days we shall see first-class racing in beautiful surroundings.

The Ascot Stakes comes up for decision to-day, and Convoy will, probably, become a good favourite. I was very much impressed with his running at Lingfield in Arctic Star's race, and I came to the conclusion that it would not be long before he was winning a good race. He is trained by J. Lawson, and backers might not do badly if they followed Manton's horses in all the long distance races at Ascot.

On the form book, one of the best handicapped horses is Coaster, who almost gave Chorist a stone and a beating at Bath. Most of his races have been over a mile and a half, but he proved his ability to stay a couple of miles when he finished second to Trimdon in the Queen's Prize at Kempton Park last year. In view of Trimdon's subsequent exploits that form appears very flattering, especially so when it is remembered that Coaster was handicapped to give Lawson's horse 1lb.

Arctic Star appears to preserve his form well, but he has now reached an age when we can expect to see his best running in the spring. La Tour d'Auvergne is a French invader, but he has no chance on Queen's Prize running. Insurance may cause a surprise. I am told that he has never been better. Blue Vision is fancied, and the mare is certain to give a game performance. I think, however, that Convoy and Insurance will be too good for her.

Son of Mint will stay every inch of the distance, and the conditions under foot will suit him admirably. His form so far this season should be forgotten, as he never gives his best running when the going is soft. He was made favourite for this race last year, but, perhaps, his best form was shown when he finished third in the Cesarewitch. Lord Nugent has all the weight he deserves, but Sea Rover is not badly treated with 7st. 7lb. Joyous Greeting has passed his prime, and I cannot fancy Castlederg. Overall will finish well up with the leaders, a remark that applies to Chelmarsh.

Chelmarsh is well fancied by his connections, but although he should reverse Epsom form with Roi De Paris, I cannot see how he can beat son of Mint if Douglas-Pennant's horse is within 7lb. of his best form last season. Ganga Singh is a forlorn hope, and I do not think Sandy Lashes is good enough. The winner may come from this group - Coaster, Son of Mint and Convoy; and I shall back

COASTER.

The automatic choice for the Prince of Wales's Stakes is

while I expect

VERSICLE

to beat Supervisor and win the Queen Mary Stakes.

LONDON BETTING.

STRONG SUPPORT FOR DOUBLE ARCH.

There was a fair amount of betting at the Victoria Club yesterday over a few of the Royal Hunt Cup candidates. The best backed horse was Double Arch, who advanced from 100 to 6 to 100 to 9, being supported to win about £10,000 in all.

Pricket closed favourite at 8 to 1, after 900 to 100 (twice) and 1,000 to 120 (twice) had been booked. Pal o' Mine had friends at 1,000 to 90 (twice) and 500 to 50. Abbot's Worthy opened at 1,000 to 60, followed by 1,500 to 100. Masked Jester was firm at 20 to 1, 1,000 to 50 (three times) being wagered. Of the rest Lovelace II. Totaig and Flying Argosy were each noticed to win a few hundred at their quoted rates.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

PERFECT GOING.

LIKELY HORSES AT ASCOT TO-DAY.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
ASCOT, Monday Night.

WHATEVER the weather conditions may be for visitors here to-morrow, the going for the horses will be perfect. There is every prospect that the weather will be fair, for the forecast is reassuring.

I imagine some members of the Ring are looking forward to this Ascot in some trépidation, and are doing no more than hoping for the best. A daring young speculator has arisen in our midst in the last few years with whom the luck has been running just lately. He relieved the bookmakers of some £50,000 to £60,000 at Epsom.

One day at Ascot last June he had a £1,000 accumulator four horses, and all of them won, netting him over £20,000.

If the luck should run his way this Ascot, there will be an awkward settling next Monday for some people. On the other hand, if the luck should run with the Ring in the course of the next four days, he might easily give them back most of his Epsom winnings. It can be seen, therefore, that it is an anxious meeting for those on whom he bestows his custom.

I have known years when the first day's programme looked easier than does that of to-morrow. The first race of the day is the Queen Anne Stakes, in which His Majesty runs Limelight, a greatly improved three-year-old. He is very close to the older horses like Diolite and St. Oswald, and has to give 11lb. to one of his own age, Tolvadden.

The latter may have been a little flattered when he divided Orwell and Firdaussi in the Greenham Stakes, and I have no high opinion of him. In the circumstances, I think LIMELIGHT has a good chance.

The Ascot Stakes will see just a fair field. Convoy seems to represent the best class, and he is much fancied. Blue Vision should run well, but she has a lot more to do than she had last year when Noble Star beat her. Coaster is another whose chance I like, but he has never won over the distance. Roi de Paris was a surprise winner of the Great Metropolitan, and is expected to run well again. I choose CONVOY to win from Coaster.

WINNERS LAST TIME OUT.

In the Coventry Stakes Colorow, Solar Boy and Manitoba have all won their last races, while the filly by Stratford, out of Lady Hurry, has been second in her last four races. She has a regrettable habit of making a slow start, and I assume that she will again find something to beat her. Colorow is a half-brother to Phalaros and Herbalist by Colorado, who gave an attractive display when he won at Manchester. I doubt, however, whether anything has been so well galloped as MANITOBA, who is the best colt in the Beckhampton stable, and who is chosen to win.

I am sure Brown Jack will give a good account of himself in the Gold Vase, but the weights greatly favour the younger horses in this race. Jacopo runs, but I must ignore him, though if he is at his best again he may win. As TAJ KASRA runs, in preference to Firdaussi, I select the Aga Khan's colt.

MIRACLE runs for the Prince of Wales's Stakes, and I see nothing to beat Lord Rosebery's colt over this mile and five and-a-half furlongs.

In spite of her ragged display in the Acorn Stakes, where she only just beat the Lady Hurry filly, who was left lengths at the post, I am going to take SUPERVISOR against all comers in the Queen Mary Stakes. No filly has impressed me so much by her speed for a long time as she has, and I venture the opinion that her failure to win by no more than a neck at Epsom was due to her inability to come smoothly down the hill. Versicle seems the most likely of the others to be placed.

The great Derby failure HESPERUS runs for the St. James's Palace Stakes. He receives 7lb. from Wyvern, but seeing how much Basil Jarvis fancied this French filly at Epsom he should be given a chance to atone for the Epsom disaster.

The feature of the betting in the Hunt Cup to-day was the run on Double Arch. I understand that the Irish Two Thousand Guineas winner is well, and he has certainly never previously been so well handicapped in England.

BALLINROBE TO-DAY.

BALLYGORTHA LIKELY TO WIN I. N. H. PLATE.

Train—Broadstone, 7.20 a.m.

RACING in Ireland for the next three days will be confined to the West of Ireland. At Ballinrobe to-day the card will be reduced to five events as a consequence of the Western Plate being a walk-over for Beech Dale The other races, however, should provide interesting sport, and the Ballinrobe Hurdle Race has a particularly open appearance. Ballygortha may prove better than East Galway in the I.N.H. Plate.

West Wicklow, chestnut gelding, by Tangiers out of Bachelor's Dream, has left Stedall's stables at Lewes for his owner's place near Warwick. The two-year-old filly Alice in Wonderland, also from Stedall's stables, has left to go to other quarters.

Bruledur's Final Gallop.

A Paris message of yesterday's date says: Francois Herve, the French jockey who won the French Derby on Sunday on Mr. A. J. Duggan's Strip the Willow, leaves for Ascot to-day in order to give the French Gold Cup candidate Bruledur a final gallop before he rides him in the Gold Cup.

WORLD'S CHAMPION HELD.

BROWN AND TARLETON FIGHT A DRAW.

Nel Tarleton, the British feather-weight champion, and Al Brown, the Panama holder of the world's championship, fought a draw over fifteen rounds on the Liverpool Football Club's ground last night, in what was described by Mr. Johnny Best, the promoter, as a "real semi-final" for the world's feather-weight title. The match was made at 9st., and at the weigh-in Brown turned the scale at 8st. 11lb. 12ozs. and Tarleton at exactly 9st.

Between two of the speediest, cleverest and generally acclaimed masters of ringcraft a perfect exhibition of boxing skill was expected, and the 35,000 spectators were not disappointed. The referee at the end of fifteen rounds found himself unable to separate the men in regard to points, and very justly decided that the result should be a draw.

At the conclusion a large section of the crowd raised a cry of protest, but it is safe to say that 75 per cent. of the spectators thought that the Liverpool man had won. As a boxing match it was almost perfect. There was not a foul throughout the fifteen rounds, although some of Brown's punches towards the end, particularly in the thirteenth round, called forth some protests from the spectators.

NEWMARKET HINTS.

WE are hopeful of winning our fair share of prizes at Ascot, and we shall have six runners for the opening event, the Queen Anne Stakes. Paddington I prefer to D'Eyncourt and Banned, but should Flying Argosy run here he will give a forward display, as will Short Hand. My vote, however, goes to LIMELIGHT.

Insurance will be seen out for the Ascot Stakes, prior to his race in France. Miss Paget's horse is now at his best, and will give a prominent display, as should Pahokee, who has made nice headway since he finished fourth for the Chester Cup. Chelmarsh has disappointed this season, and I advise the support of who did well in her gallop over the distance last week.

Woodstock has been well galloped and runs for the Coventry Stakes, and he should beat Mon Beguin and Foxbridge, Balm and Volcanius. I expect the last-named to run well, but, in taking sides with

WOODSTOCK

I recommend a saving clause on Lady Hurry filly.

Should Evening Glory run for the Gold Vase she will be the danger to FOXHUNTER.

The latter has done well in his gallops over the distance of the race.

Sigri, Bulandshar and

are in good heart for the Prince of Wales's Stakes, and I regard the last-named as a "good thing."

Surety filly will give a forward display in the Queen Mary Stakes, as will Star of England. Flying Falcon has been well galloped, but I shall rely upon the York winner,

VERSICLE (next best),

and shall look to

to prove far better than his Derby running suggested and win the St. James's Palace Stakes.

GREYHOUND RACING.

PEGGY FAY SHOWS GOOD PACE.

EASY WIN IN CLOUNANNA BITCH STAKE.

Peggy Fay followed up a recent success by winning the Clounanna Bitch Stake of 550 yards last night at Shelbourne Park. She took the lead coming into the straight, and, showing good pace, passed the line two lengths in front of Biddy Fergus, with Cheerful Knight a similar distance away third.

Bid Eagerly won the Shelbourne Stake, but Earl's Joke, who got third, had bad luck in the early stages, and will be winning a race soon. Murley Prince justified favouritism by taking the Sandymount Sprint, and Willow Blue had too much pace for opponents in the Dublin Stake, in which Slanemore led for a good part of the distance. Candalabra was a lucky winner of the first heat of the Novice Hurdle Cup, the favourite, Shocking Close, falling at the third obstacle when leading. Details:—

CLONMEL STAKE—Mr. M. O'Doherty's r. f. d. HEAVY ONSLAUGHT (1) (Border Line—Marchino), evens, 1; Mr. P. Byrne's BOY FROM KILLANE (3), 7 to 1, 2; Mr. M. Kelly's ARTFUL LOAFER (6), 5 to 1, 3. Also ran—Molly's Chap (5), 5 to 1; March Slyly (4), 6 to 1; Coty (2), 3 to 1. Four lengths; three lengths. 31.16 secs.

SHELBOURNE HURDLE—Mrs. Ballantine's bk. d. BAVATARIA (6) (Never Fear—Pine's Express), 6 to 1 agst., 1; Mr. J. Casey's STRAYED REVELLER (3), 10 to 1, 2; Mr. P. Corcoran's WHAT FLIE (1), 6 to 4 on, 3. Also ran—Lemon Dot (4), 5 to 2. Four lengths; one length. 33.01 secs.

SHELBOURNE STAKE—Master Pat Rogers's f. d. BID EAGERLY (3) (Keen Laddie—Take Care), 5 to 4, 1; Mr. J. O'Gorman's EARL'S JOKE (5), 4 to 1, 2; Mr. M. Kelly's WHITE PANZY (1), 8 to 1, 3. Also ran—Up Kerry (4), 5 to 2; Kayle Rover (2), 10 to 1. Two and a half lengths; four lengths. 31.07 secs.

CLOUNANNA BITCH STAKE (550 yards)—Miss Phelan's be. b. PEGGY FAY (4) (Harmful—One Speed), 7 to 4, 1; Mr. B. Rock's BIDDY FERGUS (2), 5 to 1, 2; Mr. F. Carton's CHEERFUL KNIGHT (3), 7 to 4, 3. Also ran—Maureen Finn (6), 7 to 1; Lady Celbridge (1), 10 to 1. Two lengths; same. 32.77 secs.

SANDYMOUNT SPRINT (355 yards)—Miss P. F. McGirr's f. d. MURLEY PRINCE (3) (Fergus Foam—Don't Touch), evens, 1; Mr. J. Morrissoe's MIRTHFUL OUTCAST (1), 7 to 2, 2; Miss Stewart and Mrs. Hamilton's SOUND SON (5), 6 to 1, 3. Also ran—Worthy Gift (2), 5 to 1; Bachelor Tom (6), 10 to 1; Canes Damnati (4), 5 to 2. Two lengths; three lengths. 20.48 secs.

SHELBOURNE NOVICE HURDLE CUP—First Heat—Mr. J. McCarthy's bd. d. CANDALABRA (6) (Beaded Dick—Keen Capture), 7 to 2 agst., 1; Mr. J. Finn's NEARER THE PINES (3), 4 to 1, 2; Mr. H. Murphy's NORE VIEW (3), 6 to 1, 3. Also ran—Shocking Close (1), 5 to 4 on. Six lengths; half a length. 33.87 secs.

DUBLIN STAKE—Miss Nugent's be. d. WILLOW BLUE (4) (Small Port—Nonae), 4 to 1, 1; Mr. P. Gilligan's GYP'S FIRST (3), 3 to 1, 2; Mr. M. Mullally's SLANEMORE (1), 5 to 1, 3. Also ran—Not So Sure (5), 4 to 1; Just Remark (2), 5 to 2; Phantom Wonderland (6), 5 to 1. Three lengths; a neck. 32.02 secs.

NOVICE HURDLE CUP.

The following is the draw for the Shelbourne Novice Hurdle Cup, for 16 dogs, at £1 each. Winner to receive £20 and cup value £10; second, £10; third and fourth, £5 each:—

HEAT 1.—Nearer the Pines, Shocking Close, Candalabra, Nore View.
HEAT 2.—Sweeney Todd, Kip of the Reel, Bold Manifesto, Over Chubby.
HEAT 3.—Pay Quick, Cantilever, Bavataria, Alario.
HEAT 4.—Melksham Jim, McManus, Avon Valley, Plutesco.

RECORD-BREAKER SOLD.

Solitaire, who recently created a record over 550 yards at Shelbourne Park by covering the distance in 31.71 secs., has been sold for a big figure to a cross-Channel buyer. The daughter of Curristown—Finola II. left for Wembley last night, where she will be under the care of Arthur Callanan, who will get her ready for the Coronation Stakes, one of the big events confined to bitches.

YACHTING.

SHAMROCK AND THE BIG CUTTERS.

FROM A CORRESPONDENT.

At these times of general financial depression it seems rather quaint that the prospects of a splendid racing season in the biggest and most expensive class of all should be so pronounced.

The fleet this year will consist of Britannia, White Heather, Shamrock, Candida, Astra and Westward. The racing, which only begins on July 1st at Harwich, will continue well into September, and the number of races sailed during that time ought to satisfy the keenest and most energetic of yachtsmen.

It has been my privilege to have spent many days recently "sail-stretching," etc., aboard the Shamrock, and, perhaps, a few details about her may be of interest. It will be remembered that when she sailed for the America's Cup she had a heavy centre-board to meet American conditions. Last season this was removed, and her sail-plan somewhat altered by the reduction in hoist of her fore-triangle and the addition of a short bowsprit.

She is practically the same this season, but, owing to the altered measurement conditions, instead of receiving 1 minute 12 seconds from Britannia over a forty miles' course, she has now to concede 1 minutes 12 seconds to the King's cutter, a net increase of 2 minutes 24 seconds, which is a big difference indeed.

As regards Astra and Candida, with whom she raced on level terms last season, she has now to concede each 1 minute 12 seconds. But the above are only rough estimates of how the time allowances will work out.

White Heather has been put into Bermudian rig, and neither her place nor that of Westward on the time scale is yet known exactly. But with Captain Montefield at the helm of the former she ought to render a good account of herself, and might quite easily come out on top.

The feature of the racing of this class will be the number of amateur helmsmen. Shamrock's topsides, by the way, are now painted white, with a green "boot-top." She is in excellent trim and delightful to steer, with a minimum of "head cross" on a reach for such a big vessel.

I hope the whole fleet will visit Ireland next year.

GOLF.

HOLDER'S EASY MATCH.

UNUSUAL CONDITIONS FOR IRISH CLOSE CHAMPIONSHIP.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

PORTRUSH, Monday.

I HAVE been coming to Portrush for a great many years, but cannot recall an occasion when the links presented such a spectacle as to-day. There has been little or no rain here since the beginning of the year, and the entire course is parched and golden, while the greens are like glass, yet the truly hit ball, as a rule, found the bottom of the tin, but that which was ever so little off the line left the player with, perhaps, a longer putt back than the first. This championship is likely to provide some surprises before we finish; for the conditions, plus the intense heat, are extremely trying, and I might say fluky. In fact, we have had a surprise or two already.

One of them came early in the overthrow of Redmond Simcox, of Cork. He had been playing excellent golf, but against J. McAuley, of Bangor, in the first round he went down. He lost three holes through pushing out his drives, was that number down going to the eighth, and although he pulled himself together on the way in, and had an average of fours at the seventeenth, he was beaten 2 and 1. His tee shot to the gas works left him in the rough to the left of the green, while his chip back never gave him a chance of bringing the match to the home green.

JOHN BURKE'S MATCH.

In the evening I went out to watch John Burke play H. M. Hadden, of Cliftonville. For a time it looked as if the Northerner would give the champion a game, but after taking the lead at the first, where Burke put his second out of bounds, he lost it at the fourth and never got in front. He had, it is true, bad luck at the seventh, where he laid himself a dead stymie through his ball running past the hole downhill, and Burke turned with a lead of three. The tenth was a disaster for the Ulsterman, who topped his drive and lay on the edge of the old tee in front, but he moved his ball there when addressing it, and took five to reach the green. He was then four down, and went further into arrears at the eleventh, where I left them. Burke was playing some magnificent shots and hitting extra long ones from the tee, but his golf was not convincing, possibly because he was not being pushed.

Frank McConnell, who has contested the last three finals for this championship, won his match from N. Garvey by 4 and 2. His start was shaky enough, his golf for the first two holes being scrappy, but thereafter he was always on top. He won the third, fourth, fifth and sixth, turned 4 up, and became dormy 3. J. F. McLaughlin, of Royal Dublin, and F. J. Byrne (Royal Portrush) had a great struggle, which ended at the nineteenth in the Dublin player's favour. Byrne on the way out was getting a bad hook, frequently finding the rough, and for the greater part of the round McLaughlin was in the lead. The latter's putting saved him at the tie hole; for Byrne took three, and the other but two, and that was the end of the local player.

A PLUCKY FIGHT.

J. Whyte, also a member of the Royal Dublin Junior Cup team, was beaten by the Irish internationalist, J. R. Carr, by 3 and 2, but he played right well with a badly injured left-hand finger, which he cut on Friday, and that the margin was so wide was due in a large measure to the excellent putting of the Ulsterman, who holed a number of long ones.

Another match that went to the nineteenth was between Charles Donovan and George Crosbie, jun., the one with business interests in South America and the other a member of the "Cork Examiner" firm. Several years ago at Lahinch the former made an unsuccessful debut in Irish championship golf. He is a member of the Portmarnock and Addington Clubs, but he has improved his game wonderfully in these few years. Crosbie was hitting very long tee shots, but on the way out did not strike his best form, and was 2 down going to the sixth. They were all square at the turn, however, and the positon was the same at the thirteenth. Crosbie went into the lead at the sixteenth, but he lost it at the seventeenth, where Donovan had his three. After the second shots to the home green the odds were in favour of Donovan, but Crosbie played a magnificent third from off the pathway, and got his four, to keep the match going. He hit the longer drive to the tie hole, but did not get his four, whereas the other almost holed his third, and passed to the second round.

FIRST ROUND.

J. F. McLoughlin (Royal Dublin) beat F. J. Byrne (Royal Portrush), at 19th.
C. L. Donovan (Portmarnock) beat G. Crosbie, jun. (Cork), at 19th.
R. P. Smyth (Royal Portrush) beat R. G. Duggan (Hermitage)—4 and 3.

THE FRENCH "OPEN."

ST. CLOUD, Monday.

Several British golfers took part in the French Open Golf Championship, which began at the St. Cloud Country Club here to-day. A Boyer, of Nice, the runner-up to Ernest Whitcombe in this event in 1930, and the French native professional champion, leads the field of sixty competitors at the end of the first day's play with an aggregate of 147 for two rounds.

Andrew McNair, the young Scottish amateur, of St. George's Hill, who led the field at the end of the first round with an excellent 72, fell away in the afternoon, and, with a score of 79, totalled 151 for fifth place. Another British player, A. J. Lacey, of Selsdon Park, however, is only one stroke behind the leader with 148, and Herbert Jolly, of Foxgrove, is not altogether out of the running with a score of 152. Ernest Whitcombe, the winner of the championship in 1930, and Aubrey Boomer, the holder, were among the absentees. Leading scores:—

A. Boyer (Nice)	73	74	147
A. J. Lacey (Selsdon Park)	75	73	148
R. Golias (Fourqueux)	74	74	148
Julien Arengo (St. Germain)	76	74	150
A. McNair (St. George's Hill)	72	79	151

BRITAIN V. FRANCE.

Miss Enid Wilson, the British champion, will not be a member of the British women's team which will oppose France in Paris on July 2nd. Originally she was chosen on the team, on which the vacancy caused by her non-participation will be filled by Miss Doris Park, the Scottish international.

The amended team, as officially announced by the Ladies' Golf Union, is:—Miss Diana Fishwick, Mrs. Percy Garon, Miss Molly Gourlay, Miss Wanda Morgan, Miss Doris Park, Miss E. C. Pentony, Miss P. R. Montgomery, and Mrs. J. B. Watson. The non-playing captain will be Miss Huleatt.

The French team will be:—Mme. Decugis or Mme. Monier, Mme. Lacoste, Mme. H. Munier, Mlle. Petin, Mme. Robert Thion de la Chaume, Mme. A. Vagliano (captain), Mme. de Vilmorin, and Mme. Waddel.

U.C.D.'S GOOD VICTORY.

Dublin University Past and Present met University College Past and Present for the first time at Dollymount yesterday, but they were defeated by 9 matches to 5. The most notable performance was the victory of G. N. Murphy (6), who defeated W. B. Armstrong (2) off scratch by 2 up.

IRISH LADIES' TITLE.

MRS. WALKER'S FINE ROUND.

The first round of the Irish Ladies' Championship was played at Ballybunion yesterday, and provided an interesting, but not exciting, day's golf, there being few surprise results.

Perhaps the best performance of the day was that of Mrs. J. B. Walker, who, in an 8 and 6 victory against Mrs. Briscoe, was around in 75, one over the par of the course; while Mrs. Marks, the present Ulster champion, was out in 36, but, as her match finished early, she did not keep her full score.

Mrs. Madill and Mrs. Morrison had a dour struggle for most of the journey, and it was not until the 16th that Mrs. Madill took the lead. An unfortunate incident occurred at the fourth in this match. Both ladies hit excellent tee shots, and Mrs. Madill landed a beauty on the green with her second. It was then discovered that she had played the wrong ball, and she immediately conceded the hole to her opponent. Mrs. Morrison was 2 up at the eighth, but lost the next two, and there was never more than one hole difference until Mrs. Madill took the 16th and 17th for the match.

MISS GARDINER'S RECOVERY.

Miss Peggy Gardiner had a remarkable game against Mrs. O'Reilly; 3 down going to the sixth, Miss Gardiner had an "eagle" 3, and this proved the turning point for a 4 and 2 victory. Miss Bingham, whose first championship it was, did remarkably well, though beaten 4 and 2 by Miss Blake. She outdrove her opponent nearly every time, but was unable to do herself justice near the greens. Miss O'Brien Corkery, too, did well against Miss Moore, for, after a three holes deficit at the ninth, she got on level terms, but subsequently pulled her tee shots, and was beaten. In what was the only unexpected result, Miss P. Jameson, one of the most fancied competitors, was knocked out by Miss D. Oulton of Greystones.

Mrs. Walker is now a sound favourite for the championship, but Mrs. Todd is playing really well, and the reigning champion, Miss Pentony, who is in excellent form, so far, has not come into the picture yet. The second and third rounds will be played to-day. Details:—

LAWN TENNIS.

ULSTER FAIL IN SINGLES.

LEINSTER'S SUCCESS IN BELFAST.

Failing to win one of the singles, Ulster were well beaten by Leinster in the annual interprovincial match, played at Belfast Boat Club courts, Stranmillis, yesterday. Leinster won by 8 matches to 1. W. R. Simms, Ulster's number one, was unable to cope with O'Sullivan's high-kicking service, and while he did not play up to form, the Ulster man was well beaten by a much better player. H. C. Brown put up quite a good show against Sandys, but the latter, who holds the Ulster Singles title, was always steadier, and although Brown recovered to take the second set, Sandys had his measure in the third. Pedlow was obviously short of practice in his game with Kennedy, who won as he liked. Fannin outclassed O'Keefe, and Towers had no trouble in winning over Campbell, who seemed to be affected by the decision of the umpire in one or two instances. Grant took Maynard to three sets, but the Ulsterman scored his points by his opponent's mistakes. Results:—

GAMES FOR YOUTH.

THE NEED FOR PHYSICAL TRAINING.

Congratulations on the scholastic and athletic work of the past year were offered to pupils of the Christian Brothers' School, Westland Row, Dublin, yesterday, by the Very Rev. Father Ryan, Adm., St. Andrew's, Dublin, who presided at the annual prize-giving ceremony.

Father Ryan said that the winning of ten primary and three secondary scholarships was a record to be proud of. He also congratulated the boys on their having won three football cups and the drill cup. In the past it seemed that too much attention was given to the development of the mind and too little to the development of the body. He urged the boys to take a healthy interest in sport. It was better to play manly, open-air games than to lounge about buildings or play cards at street corners.

General O'Duffy, Commissioner of the Civic Guard, in presenting the prizes, said that education and physical training went hand in hand, but he doubted if the educational authorities were doing all they might do in that regard.

"As a race we are deteriorating," he declared. "Not long since I took a walk through a popular Dublin suburb, and among the thousands I passed there were not three who would be suitable for the Civic Guards."

Prizes were presented as follow:—

Keogh Cup (presented by Dr. Myles Keogh, T.D.) for Inter-School Competition—Intermediate Certificate Class.

Senator Fanning Cup (for winner of 100 Yards, Junior)—J. Byrne.

Professor Whelehan Cup (for Inter-Christian Brothers' Schools Competition)—Won by Marino Christian Brothers' School.

Clarkin Cup (for best all-round athlete in school)—R. McKenna and J. Byrne (tie).

Father Ryan Cup (for winner of 100 Yards, Middle)—S. Mooney.

Father Boylan Cup (for winner of 100 Yards, Senior)—R. McKenna.

Macken Cup (for winner of 100 Yards, Preparatory)—R. O'Reilly.

ANGLING.

LOUGH ERNE.

Dappers did very well last week on Rosscor Bay and other points of lower Lough Erne, trout up to 4lb. having been killed. On one day over 100 rods were out between Rosscor and Beleek.

There is much grumbling among local anglers at the impost of £1 per season. Such an impost was always in operation in the days of the British Government, but was rarely enforced. Since the Northern Government took over the lakes it has taken measures to improve the trout fishing, and £1 for an entire season on a really good trout fishing water is not unreasonable.

CRICKET

YORKSHIRE'S POWER.

KENT'S FIRST DEFEAT AFTER THRILLING STRUGGLE.

REMARKABLE cricket took place yesterday at Tonbridge on a pitch which had become quite hard, bowlers of such completely different types as Freeman, Bowes and Rhodes carrying all before them. The Kent slow bowler, after having 6 scored off his first ball, sent down twenty-nine overs for 86 runs and seven wickets, his full analysis being eight for 105.

Yorkshire's last pair added 27 to secure a lead of 11, and then Kent were dismissed in 83 minutes for 75 runs. Three of the first five wickets fell to Bowes for 15, but Rhodes excelled with six wickets for 48. Bowes bowled very fast with length, and made the ball swing in. Rhodes, varying his pace from medium to fast, relied mostly on the ball swinging away. Everything went against the batsmen from the start of the day, and a mistake always brought dismissal.

Yorkshire required only 65 for victory, but Chapman at silly point snapped up a wonderful catch with the right hand when Sutcliffe played hard forward, and with 7 scored a googly cleaned bowled Holmes.

After a superb struggle Yorkshire won a great match by four wickets. Arthur Rhodes followed his steady bowling by showing high skill and nerve when the issue hung in the balance. He joined Wood when six men were out for 32, and the remaining 33 runs were obtained in half an hour. Yorkshire's collapse continued when Fairservice and Freeman ran out Leyland, who rashly attempted to steal a single. Freeman bowled six maidens before Mitchell pulled him to the boundary, but that bowler had his revenge at 17. Sellers with a leg boundary made the second scoring stroke from Freeman before Woolley, with his right hand very wide at slip, caught Barber magnificently off Ashdown, half the Yorkshire side falling for 21 runs. Sellers drove Freeman twice to the off boundary before giving Crawley a catch at extra mid-off.

Then came the stand which gave Yorkshire their triumph and brought defeat to Kent for the first time this season. Freeman caused constant trouble, and, apart from four boundaries, the only runs off him in nineteen overs were 9 singles. Ashdown was unlucky when snicks yielded runs, the winning hit by Wood being such a stroke, while he had Sellers when 9 missed off him by Chapman at second slip. Apart from that failure to hold a hot chance, Kent fielded grandly. In fact, throughout the game the outwork of both sides reached a very high standard.

AND THE STABLES AND STORES AT MOLYNEUX YARD, IN COW LANE.

Spacious and well-constructed Premises, with excellent display windows, and suitable for Retail, Wholesale or Manufacturing purposes, in a densely populous area and fronting on a main business artery.

The Cornmarket Property consists of a very substantial Premises with cut granite front, 3 storeys over the shop level. The Shop has six large windows to Cornmarket and two windows to Bridge street. The first floor of the premises is vacant, and the two upper floors are sub-let as a Clothing Factory at a rent of £208 per annum. Possession of this portion could be had if required. The remainder of the front to Bridge street consists of two dwellinghouses, the ground floor of which forms the extension of the main shop. The frontage (73ft.) to St. Augustine street is occupied by a most substantially constructed modern CLOTHING FACTORY built of brick and reinforced concrete, with steel principalled roof, with patent glazing; two concrete staircases, self-contained lavatory block. This building is three storeys in height, and could readily be separated from the remainder of the premises. The Yard behind the main premises is clear of buildings, and affords space for further extension if required. The premises in Cow lane and Molyneux Yard consist of a newly-built brick building, with a slated roof, two storeys in height, and a large Store, 60ft. long.

The Cornmarket and Bridge street Premises are held for terms of 992 years, 999 years, and for ever, subject to rents amounting to £230 1s. 0d.

The Factory Premises in St. Augustine street are held for terms of 150 years at rents amounting to £66 per annum.

The Premises in Molyneux Yard and Cow lane are held for terms of 41 years and 99 years, respectively, subject to rents of £13 and £5.
